CITIZENS DEMAND ACTION AT "DEATH TRAP" CROSSING

Urge Removal Of Highway Menace At Harlansburg

Seventeen Deaths In Nine Years Cited As Sufficient Reason For Action

SEND RESOLUTION TO HIGHWAY HEAD

Meeting Sponsored By Motor Club Attended By Leaders In All Lines

Within 30 minutes after assembling at the call of the New Castle Motor club to discuss the dangers of Harlansburg's "death trap" crossing, a prominent group of the city's business, professional, civic and labor leaders and American Legion representatives last night had adopted, by voice vote, a resolution calling upon the Pennsylvania state highway department to put an immediate end to that highway hazard.

Demands Quick Action.

The resolution, recalling that fatal crashes of the past have branded the crossing point one of the most treacherous in the New Castle section, urged the highway department "to take immediate steps towards the end that motor traffic at this point may use the intersection without a constant threat of danger and damage."

Signatures of the representatives in attendance are to be carried on the group's formal demand when it is laid within a day or so before John B. Shaw, superintendent of highways in this district.

Mr. Shaw will get the resolution direct and copies will be mailed very shortly after to the Pittsburgh area chief of the highway department and to the state secretary of highways at Harrisburg.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

The rubbish man hauls away ashes, tin cans, crocks, windowpanes, hollyhock stalks, Christmas trees and rusty fenders, why do prosperous citizens, and the middle class alike, park their "civic pride" over some vacant lot in the community?

The green foliage of summer furnishes a secret hiding place for such an eyesore, but there is always a tinge of sad anticipation when autumn turns her falling leaves to crimson and gold.

The passing rubbish man then realizes why his depression lasts the longest, while the "junk yard" owner estimates the civic pride in his neighborhood.

Jap Aerial Attacks Bring Warm Protest From Foreign Envoys

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27.—A series of devastating attacks on portions of Shanghai and Nanking by Japanese airplanes today brought an immediate protest from foreign diplomats.

The Japanese planes went into action despite the grave international crisis caused by the wounding of British Ambassador Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen yesterday by a bullet from the machine gun of a Japanese fighting plane.

The foreign diplomats made strong representations to Japanese authorities, urging Japanese planes to refrain from attacking non-military positions in Nanking.

These representations followed an air raid on the Chinese capital in which a barrage of bombs started a number of fires. Four bombs set fire to shelters in which hundreds of Chinese coolies were housed. Forty were killed.

Power Drives

In the vicinity of Shanghai, the attacking planes made spectacular power drives as they attacked Chinese military positions in the Kiang-

MOSCOW, Aug. 27.—Thirty persons were executed at Irkutsk, Siberia, today as the Soviet government pressed its war against saboteurs and espionage agents.

Today's victims were accused of wrecking activities under direction of the Japanese secret service.

New York State Legislator Is Plane Victim

Assemblyman Pritchard M. Strong, Wife And Two Others Are Instantly Killed

WERE RESIDENTS OF ROCHESTER

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 27.—A spectacular early morning plane crash amid rain and fog today snuffed out the lives of a widely-known state legislator, his wife and two male companions.

Victims of the crash, which occurred only one mile south of the Albany airport, were Assemblyman and Mrs. Prichard H. Strong, and two men identified tentatively as Charles B. Judson, a close friend of the assemblyman, and Clarence Robinson, pilot of the plane. All were from Rochester.

Assemblyman Strong, who was one of the wealthiest members of the state legislature, flew from his Rochester home to Saratoga yesterday for the races.

The plane, according to the state police, left Saratoga Springs shortly before 1 o'clock this morning.

No Decision On 44-Hour Week Law

Local Merchants Advised To Withhold Action Until Next Week

STATE BOARD TO TAKE ACTION

President L. J. Miller of the Retail Merchants Association, has been advised by John E. Means, secretary of the Pennsylvania Retailers Association, that the decision on exceptions to the maximum hour law has been deferred until next week by the Industrial Board of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry.

Until a decision has been handed down on the exceptions to the law, which were taken by the Pennsylvania Retailers Association, local merchants have been advised to not take any action on drawing up work schedules.

As soon as definite word has been given in the matter, Mr. Miller will call a special meeting of the Retail Merchants Association here so that information on the subject can be given out to the membership and draw up their schedules accordingly.

Storm Brewing Over Shooting Of Statesman

British Ambassador Spends Restless Night But Shows Improvement

JAPS SIDESTEP ANY OF BLAME

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27.—Part of his vertebrae shattered by a Japanese machine gun bullet, Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to China, was in "satisfactory" condition today as he fought for his life while a diplomatic storm brewed over the attack in which he was wounded.

The enjoy's rally followed a blood transfusion in which an American marine, H. Thomson of Mountain View, Cal., gave his bood to Sir. Hughe. Thomson was one of scores who offered bood to the gravely wounded ambassador. It was hoped the envoy's condition would improve sufficiently to permit early removal of the bullet.

A medical bulletin issued at 2 p. m. at the Shanghai Country Hospital stated:

More Restful.

"The ambassador definitely spent a more restful morning and his condition is satisfactory."

During the night Sir Hughe was restless and disturbed although his general condition remained as good as could be expected. His spinal cord was left intact, although the Japanese bullet virtually broke his back.

The British envoy was cheerful despite his intense discomfort and his temperature and pulse were not

Baron Rothschild, Member Of Austrian Banking Family, Dies In London

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Baron Rothschild, a member of the famous Austrian banking family and a well known author and expert on zoology, died today at his home at Tring after a lengthy illness. He was 68.

Born Lionel Walter Rothschild, he was the second baron of his line.

For a time he served as a major in the Royal Bucks Yeomanry. He had been a trustee of the British Museum since 1929 and from 1899 to 1910 represented Aylesbury as a member of parliament. He was born in London.

His nephew, Nathaniel Mayer Victor Rothschild, is his heir.

ARREST MOTORIST

Detectives Chief Ray Showalter and Policeman Carl Lockhard at 11:55 p. m. last night arrested William H. Shearer, 906 West Clayton street, on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. His auto was alleged to have struck a street car operated by W. A. Kyle in Moravia street. Today Acting Chief of Police Cecil Suber charged Shearer with the offense in an information sworn to before Alderman O. H. P. Green.

Brotherhoods To Put Strike Up To Mediation Board

Agree Not To Tie Up Traffic Until Matter Is Adjusted

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—The nation's railroaders wrapped up their threat of a paralyzing strike today as they prepared to lay demands for a 20 per cent wage boost before a federal mediator.

Officials of the "Big Five" railroad brotherhoods agreed to put away their big stick at the request of the government, seeking to avoid a tieup of the country's major transportation systems.

Representatives of eighty-six class I roads refused any increases for the trainmen, engineers, firemen, conductors and switchmen, claiming they would be unable to afford the added payroll load of $112,000,000 annually.

Already empowered with a strke vote by the unions' membership, their leaders had two alternatives. They could set a date for the walkout or they could throw the dispute into the lap of the Federal Mediation board.

School Board Asks Supreme Court To Rule On Tenure

Monessen City School Board Asks Decision Of Lower Court Be Reversed

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—Western Pennsylvania's first appeal to the state supreme court to test the constitutionality of the new teachers' tenure act, passed by the last session of the legislature, was on file here today.

The Monessen city school board petitioned the supreme court to review the order of Westmoreland county courts ordering the renewal of two contracts of Preston A. Ditty, as teacher and football coach.

Besides testing the legality of the act, the school board's counsel insisted the recently-enacted legislation cannot affect retroactive contract matter.

The school board contended that Ditty was given a 60 days notice, as required by his contract, that he would not be re-hired for the 1937-38 term. After passage of the tenure act, Ditty brought a mandamus action to compel the board to reinstate his contract.

To Let Bids For Tunnel Draining

Eight Tunnels On Right Of Way Of Super-Highway To Be Drained Of Water

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—Bids will be opened September 10 for draining eight of the nine water-filled tunnels on the right-of-way of the proposed super highway route between Carlisle and Pittsburgh, it was announced today.

Marking the first actual construction work on the project, the draining will show the interior condition of the abandoned tunnels. The tunnels, on the route of the abandoned South Penn railroad, are flooded to a depth of from four to 15 feet.

New Castle Fair Closing Tonight After Good Week

Thursday's Crowd Good Both At Races And Agricultural Exhibits

Despite leaden skies and threats of rain, the New Castle Fair drew a splendid crowd of patrons Thursday afternoon and evening. It was the third day of the fair and today marks the close of both the fair and the race meet.

Stands Filled

Getting back to yesterday's program, the grandstand was practically filled for the three fine harness races which had the crowd sitting on the edges of their seats. Every heat was loaded with action. On several occasions the horses were bunched up so closely that the crowd feared a mishap was in store. Everything moved along smoothly, however.

Following the races, the calvacade was presented for the second consecutive day. The throng applauded and cheered the wonderful display

Firemen Bring Convention Here

Northwestern Pennsylvania Association Will Meet In New Castle Next Year

IS THREE-DAY CELEBRATION

New Castle will be the scene of the 1938 convention of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Firemen's Association, as a result of action taken at the business session held in Sharon last evening, when the convention got under way there for this year.

J. S. Kimmell, of Springboro, was elected president; James E. Thomas, of this city, first vice president; William Miller, of Farrell, second vice president; Perry S. McFarland, of this city, secretary, and C. W. Gackenbaugh, Greenville, treasurer.

C. C. Shaffer, of this city, was elected to the board of directors, in addition to the other local men honored, and David Means, of New Wilmington, was also elected to the board.

New Castle sent a large delegation to the opening session, asking that the 1938 convention be brought to this city, and their efforts met with success.

Sharon Man Is Held For Court

Man Who Wounded Wife, Son And Policeman Will Face Court Trial

(International News Service)

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 27.—Refused bond after he waived a hearing, Walter L. Rader, 47-year-old father who wounded his wife, son and a policeman while on an alleged drunken shooting spree, was held for court trial today.

He was directly charged with felonious assault and battery in an information filed by Police Chief Charles B. Steger. It was believed his case would come up during the September term of court.

Sergeant Lloyd Van Cise, who was shot in the shoulder, neck and face when he attempted to arrest Rader, was reported improving at Buhl hospital as was Mrs. Rader who was hit in the legs by the gun's discharge. Walter Rader, Jr., 7, was discharged from the hospital Wednesday.

He served as Secretary of the Treasury under three presidents, Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover and later served as ambassador to the Court of St. James in London.

President Home; Ponders Special Session Problem

Veto Of Sugar Stabilization Bill Undoubtedly Signal For Extra Session

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 27.—With the key to a possible special session of congress in his pocket, President Roosevelt returned to his Hudson Valley home today.

His special train arrived here at 8:30 a. m. (E. D. T.) and the president motored immediately to his estate. He will be away from Washington three weeks.

Congressional leaders awaited the president's decision on the sugar quota bill, one of many measures still to be acted upon by the chief executive as a possible indication of what his future course of action will be.

It is believed that a veto of the sugar bill which has been attacked by four cabinet officers and two territorial governors, would constitute an additional warning to legislative leaders that they will be called back to Washington in November.

But any special session call would primarily be predicated upon the even more significant issues of crop control, hours and wages, and government reorganization.

Besides the special session problem, President Roosevelt will consider the suggestion that he should make a direct appeal to the people with the intention of bringing popular pressure to bear in the attempt to overcome the reverses he suffered in the last congress.

The president's advisers, it was learned, are generally in accord on the advisability of making a direct appeal to the people.

Hundreds Attend East Side Garden Club Flower Show

Show Held In Epworth M. E. Church On Thursday Afternoon Is Success

Several hundred persons witnessed the third annual East Side Garden club flower show Thursday, in the spacious Epworth M. E. church hall. The occasion was a marked success.

The hall was converted into a paradise of flowers, the appealing odors of the spectacular and colorful displays permeating throughout the building. The several hundred exhibitions were cleverly banked on a series of tables. Hours of patience and hard work in arranging the displays were greatly appreciated by the large crowd present.

Fox Has Exhibit

One of the feature exhibitions was that of City Forester Owen Penfield Fox titled, "An Education in Tree Diseases." The display caused considerable attention. The Lawrence County Agricultural Association had an educational display which proved another highlight of the show.

The judges, Mrs. Colin Campbell, Mrs. John Robinson and Mrs. W. C. Mechem, experienced considerable difficulty in awarding the prizes, so outstanding were the displays at the show. The blooms were the best in several years according to the committee in charge.

The show attracted several hundred persons throughout the afternoon and evening hours. The show as a success from every standpoint.

The list of the winners will be published in Saturday's edition of The News.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The body of Andew W. Mellon, financial genius and secretary of treasury in the administration of three presidents, will be removed tonight to Pittsburgh where Mellon built his great industrial empire.

Mellon died last night at the age of 82 at the Bonnie Dune estate of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David K. E. Bruce in Southampton, Long Island. Today, his body reposed at Brockett's funeral parlor in Southampton.

Body In New York

Late today, the body was to be taken to New York and placed aboard a special car attached to "The Pittsburgher" of the Pennsylvania railroad, scheduled to arrive in Pittsburgh at 8:05 a. m., tomorrow.

Services will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the East Liberty Presbyterian church, Dr. Stuart Nye Hutchinson, pastor, will officiate and interment will be private.

Death was peaceful and was caused by uremia and broncho-pneumonia. With him at the end were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce; his son, Paul Mellon; his physician, Dr. T. J. Abernethy of Washington, and a nurse.

The funeral services in Pittsburgh will be held at the East Liberty Presbyterian chuch. The Mellon family gave the money for construction of the church, which was completed two years ago at a cost of $3,000,000.

Like homing pigeons on the wing, like robins coming home in spring, the summer tourists now return to work another year. They had their fun at lake and beach as far as pocketbooks would reach, and now they're back to hit the ball, that's not so nice I fear. They have a coat of sealskin tan, the maidens say they got their man, but now they must get down to earth and punch the old time clock. Ah me they're through with summer play, the weather's eighty eight today, and now they think next year they go, they'll put their watch in hock.

MAY MAKE GREEN CHAIRMAN

Acting Chairman At Present Time

Ten Chairmen Of Northwest Tier Pledge Themselves To Green's Candidacy

APPROVES PLAN OF WARREN JONES

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27—G. Edward Green was believed virtually assured today of the chairmanship of the state Republican organization.

Sentiment throughout the state, among G. O. P. leaders and the rank and file, gaining momentum during the past few weeks, has led observers to believe that the Republican State Committee, when it meets in Altoona on Sept. 25 will retain Green as the only means of preventing a possible serious split which may arise through factional struggle for party control.

Green, himself, has announced he would accept the chairmanship were it offered to him but is emphasizing during his meetings with county chairmen, that his job at present, as active chairman replacing M. Harvey Taylor, was the fall elections.

This group of committeemen from the Northeastern tier of the state, endorsed Green, assuring the acting chairman 10 pledged votes at the Altoona meeting.

In Until May

According to present sentiment, Green will be retained until the regular state committee meeting next May. What will be done at that time, observers point out, depends on whether or not the rival factions will be able to get together satisfactorily and unite behind one leader, outwardly at least.

Green told International News Service he believed a plan, brought forward by Warren R. Jones, former assistant secretary to Gifford Pinchot calling for the financing of the Republican party through popular subscriptions was a "good idea."

"Something along those lines is essential" said Green. "I don't think however, that now is the time to do anything about it because the National committee is working on a similiar plan providing for financing state and national organizations through subscriptions of $5 and up."

Jones, who is believed to have been inspired in his plan by Pinchot now in the throes, it is said, of furthering his political aspirations into something concrete, asserted that his plan would wrest the party from the control of a few and place it in the hands of "the masses."

Endorse Idea

Green said the proposal was an "excellent one" but in all probability will be subject to variations to dovetail with the national committee's plan.

"Something will have to be worked out in the state to supplement the national committee's program," he said, "but we'll have to watch and see what happens.

Jones' plan was reported to have been received with a warm reception by local as well as state party leaders. He urged that a "financial bureau' be set up to sell "contributions" to finance the state organization.

wan area. The planes came over the region in formation, systematically dropping bombs.

The air attacks were launched not withstanding grave international complications may result from yesterday's incident in which the British envoy to China was seriously wounded by a machine gun bullet from a Japanese plane.

Meanwhile, Japanese infantry forces continued efforts to gain control of the entire Shanghai area.

A Japanese spokesman replied to the expressed apprehensions of foreign interests regarding the coastal blockade by declaring Japan is not prepared forcibly to prevent sale or transport of arms to China by foreign powers, but that it was "hoped the powers would not undertake such sale or transportation."

Hold Kalgan

A communique issued by the Central government at Nanking claimed Chinese forces still are holding Kalgan, where 600 Chinese and 70 Mongols were slain during the past 12 hours.

Five hundred Chinese and 57 Japanese were killed as the latter forces captured Chinghai, south of Tientsin. Another furious battle raged 25 miles south of Peiping.

All Chinese positions around the North Station and in the northeastern section of the city now are held by Chinese militiamen.

Severe fighting all night at Lui-Ho and other inland points caused heavy casualties on both sides, it was reported.

The Japanese commander in the northeastern sector claimed the Japanese from Woosung were steadily advancing. He added that Chinese forces in the eastern district, half a mile from the international settlement, had been "cleaned-up." Most of them were snipers, he added.

Admiral Percy Foote, the new commissioner of the Pennsylvania motor police, thinks it would be a good plan to establish a chain of schools for the education of motorists in the mechanics of the cars they drive. It's not the idea to make repair men out of them, but merely to give them a little understanding of how their buzz wagons work. Thousands of motorists don't know a generator from a fly wheel, and are helpless when some trivial thing stops a car on the road.

The state legislature was extremely busy with the school laws during the last session, a review of this legislation reveals. There were 465 bills affecting the educational department of the state introduced into the legislature, and 141 of these laws were passed.

"Do Something" Is Cry.

"Do something now, and do it quick," seemed to be the cry.

Everyone agreed that the talking period had passed. Everyone agreed, too, that the formal demands of the past are another story—and that the demand this time is going to be followed up!

If absolutely necessary, the group made it plain that it will go out and obtain enough names on a "do something" petition that would fill a stack of pages.

In the resolution approved last night will be incorporated today the full statistical story of the tragedies at the Perry highway-route 108 intersection, the final chapter of which will record the death within the past week of a Shreveport, La., man there.

President Alec Samuels of the motor club was introduced early as the presiding officer after Secretary-Manager Bernard N. Hanlon of the club had briefly explained the one purpose of the rally.

The city, county and other public units here sent representatives. With the club representatives, everyone had his chance to speak.

Spokesmen Voice Views.

Among the speakers were L. G. Genkinger, Frank S. Hoyt, former State Senator George T. Weingartner, Ezra D. Marvin, Presley N. Jones, Coroner Orville Potter, James K. Love, Walter W. Duff, County Commissioner George Bolinger, Lester L. Weitzel, C. J. Henschel, operator of the Pittsburgher Inn at the crossing corner, and others.

Each condemned the crossing and each suggested changes that could be made.

Some prescribed a traffic (red and green) light at once, some a re-routing of traffic around the side "ears" at the crossing and not across the Perry, and some a major job of placing route 108 underneath the Perry.

But what action is taken is secondary to having action—some remedial action—taken at once.

Crashes Have Killed 17.

Coroner Potter, a member of the motor group's governing board, told the group that he has had five fatal accidents at the scene in four years. Secretary Hanlon announced earlier that, to the best of his knowledge, there have been 17 lives lost there in nine years.

Figures of the crashes will be obtained from the Pennsylvania motor police and added to the resolution.

Drafting of the formal request for quick steps were Lew J. Miller, president of the Retail Merchants association; Presley N. Jones, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; Norman D. Freeborne, head of the Trades & Labor Assembly here; M. Dale Andrews of the Exchange club and E. D. Marvin, prominent member of the Lions club.

Failure of route 108 motorists to observe the "stop" order as they approach the Perry was given as the outstanding cause of most of the crashes. It was also brought out that the junction connections at present are too confusing, especially to the driver who is a stranger in this section.

Resolution As Adopted.

The complete resolution:

"Whereas, Conditions at the intersection of highway route No. 19 and No. 108 at Harlansburg, Pennsylvania, have reached the place where life and property are endangered, and

"Whereas, In the past several years many accidents have happened, many lives have been lost, many persons have been injured and valuable property damaged because of the peculiarly dangerous conditions existing there, and

"Whereas, It is the general opinion that the hazards at this intersection could be reduced if some action was taken by the Pennsylvania state highway department, therefore

"Be is resolved: That we, representatives of the business, civic and professional life of New Castle, of all labor organizations and of the American Legion here, urge the highway department to take steps immediately towards the end that motor traffic at this point may use the intersection without a constant threat of danger and damage."

STORM BREWING OVER SHOOTING OF STATESMAN

unduly raised. So far, no complications have arisen, and his physician, Dr. E. G. Gauntlett, is hopeful that Sir Hughe will recover.

The ambassador was wounded when two Japanese planes machine gunned and bombed the automobile in which he and his aides were traveling from Nanking toward Shanghai. The incident has provoked one of the gravest international crises in the Far East in three decades.

A sharp protest from Britain to Japan is awaited and the British government is ready to send thousands of infantry and artillery reinforcements to the British garrison here.

Indignation High

In British circles, indignation is high owing to Japanese attempts to sidestep blame for the shooting on grounds the ambassador did not inform Japanese authorities he was making the trip. Japanese authorities said any idea the envoy was shot intentionally was "unthinkable." One Japanese version claimed he had been struck by a "stray bullet."

The British, however, insist the two Japanese planes sprayed machine gun bullets at the envoys car and dropped a bomb near it. They state the automobile carried clearly indentifiable Union Jacks.

A spokesman for the Japanese embassy here said the Japanese investigation of the incident had not yet been completed. As soon as the result of the probe is known, he added, it would be fully revealed.

"Unwarrantable use of foreign flags by the Chinese," said the spokesman, made their use by bona fide foreigners for purposes of protection extremely risky.

The spokesman advised foreigners not to motor behind the Chinese lines, or if they must make such trips, to advise Japanese authorities beforehand.

bating what was the best step to take, and it was quickly accepted by both sides.

William M. Leiserson, one of the board members, will open hearings here tomorrow, it was announced.

In the event his recommendations are not acceptable to both sides, it is likely the matter will be put up to President Roosevelt under the terms of the Railway Labor Act.

To stave off a strike, this law provides that the president may declare an emergency and appoint a fact finding board which must report within thirty days.

Another thirty day period of grace must elapse before either side may take action.

Funeral services for Miss Sarah Jane Booher, who died Thursday at 709 Brooklyn avenue, will be conducted Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home of her niece, Mrs. E. P. Weinschenk at Savannah, with Rev. E. N. Engle, pastor of the Savannah M E. church, of which Miss Booher was a member, in charge.

Miss Booher passed away at the age of nearly 87 years, having been born in Shenango township on November 29, 1850, daughter of John and Matilda McConahey Booher. All of her lifetime was passed in the Savannah district. She was the last surviving member of her family. Mrs. W. V. Booher is a sister-in-law.

Williams Funeral Plans.

Announcement is made that the body of J. R Williams, of Shreveport, La., victim of an automobile crash at Harlansburg, will be interred at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Castle View Burial Park

A military funeral will be conducted at the grave. Rev. A. M. Stump, of St. Paul's Lutheran church will be the officiating clergyman.

Everett Webber's Funeral .

Funeral services conducted at St. Paul's Baptist church last Sunday for young Everett Webber, West North street youth who drowned in the Shenango river, were attended by hundreds of friends and many could not gain entrance to the church

The pastor, Rev. M. Cecil Mills, was in charge, assisted by Rev. William Dockery, of St. Luke's A. M. E. Zion church. The services were simple and befitting, with Class No. 5, of which Everett was a member, participating. His teacher, Miss Lillian Young, presided.

The youth's favorite songs were sung and Mrs. Virgie Anderson offered a solo, "How About You?" The pastor spoke briefly and consolingly from the 14th chapter of Job. The esteem in which the deceased was held was shown in remarks by Rev. Dockery and resolutions from the Boy Scouts and St. Paul's Sunday school. There was a huge profusion of flowers.

The active pallbearers were Clifford Connor, Charles Murray, James Zito, Lindell Walls, Ruthford Owens and Jesse Gunn Burial was made in Greenwood cemetery.

James Glover Funeral.

In the presence of a crowd of friends which completely filled the home, tribute was paid to the late James Glover, prominent Wampum business man, Thursday afternoon.

The services were conducted at 3:30 o'clock with the Presbyterian minister, Rev. J. G. Bingham, in charge. Mrs. Lela Jackson and Mrs. Estella Hennon sang a beautiful number, as did Mrs. Ben Agnew soloists for the Elks Lodge of New Castle. A great many flowers filled all available space in the home

Pallbearers were C. L. Repman, W. A. Brown, C. F. Morrow, J. B. Martin, W. H. Grinnen and E. E. Wolfe. Interment was made in Newport cemetery.

Mrs. T. J. Armstrong

Mrs. T. J. Armstrong passed away this afternoon shortly after one o'clock at her home in Leesburg after an illness of some time.

The obituary and funeral arrangements will be published Saturday.

Exiled Prince Causes Furore

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 27.—Former Prince Nicholas, exiled brother of King Carol, sat back today and enjoyed the spectacle of official confusion produced by his sudden unannounced and somewhat unwelcome returned to his homeland.

The monarch, high government dignitaries and minor officials were confounded by the appearance of the ex-prince, who recently was exiled by the king for refusing to abandon his commoner wife, the former Jana Lucia Deletj.

NEW CASTLE FAIR CLOSING TONIGHT AFTER GOOD WEEK

of livestock. The animal parade included some of the finest draft horses, ponies and cows in the district.

Next on the program was a third show by the X-Bar-X Ranch company which staged another spectacular wild west show. The cowboys and cowgirls attempted the various famous wild west equestrian tricks. The company scored a decided hit. The rodeo show is one of this year's features at the fair. The company portrays wild west life in a most fascinating manner.

Probably the most interesting contests of the fair took place last night—the tallest and shortest couples on the grounds. A New Wilmington couple, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cooper, won the tall couple prize, while Joe Player and Anna Shubert, both of Wampum, crashed the short couple event. Mrs. Cooper measures 6 feet 4 inches while her husband is 6 feet 6½ inches in height. Miss Shubert is 5 feet 3 inches tall, while Mr. Player is 5 feet 2½ inches in height. The prizes, all cash awards, are gifts from Fred L. Rentz, president of The News.

Close Today

The last day program planned will feature three races this afternoon and the biggest rodeo show of the fair. The rodeo show will be presented again at 8 o'clock this evening. It was announced today that the various displays and exhibitions will close at 9 o'clock.

The livestock will also be on display until 9.

The judge who selected the winning beef cattle, sheep and hogs was W. A. McCoy, of Mercer; W. J. Warner judged the dairy cattle; Miss David, of Beaver, selected the winning displays in household art and household science and Frank Davis, of Mars, was the horse judge.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Balentine, sons Dick and Bart, and Mrs. S. A. Richards of Leasure avenue, have returned after a two weeks' motor trip through the White Mountains and the Atlantic seaboard.

DR. AND MRS. GREEN'S ANNIVERSARY THURSDAY

Thursday, August 26, marked the 35th wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Green of Sheridan avenue, the former of whom is superintendent of the New Castle public schools.

The day was quietly spent, no celebration being held, but scores of friends throughout the city and vicinity extended hearty greetings. For the past three weeks Dr. and Mrs. Green have had as their house guests, a daughter, Mrs. D. D. Peirce, and little daughter Dorothy, of Clarion, Pa. They concluded their visit yesterday, joining Dr. Professor Peirce, head of the science department at Clarion Teachers' College, who has been at State College for a two weeks' course.

Another daughter is Mrs. E. V. Martin, of Delaware avenue, and there is one son, James Green, an instructor at George Washington high school. Dr. and Mrs. Green were married in Butler county in 1902, the bride being the former Edith Nesbit.

Dr. and Mrs. Green and family came to New Castle about eleven years ago from Clarion, Pa., where he was president of Clarion State Teachers' College. Previously he had been superintendent of schools in Beaver Falls and New Brighton.

The family has made hundreds of friends since locating here and are actively associated in all community projects.

Anniversaries Honored.

Mrs. J. Howard Frew of Moody avenue entertained at a small informal dinner Thursday evening to honor two wedding anniversaries occurring in August.

Honorees were Mr. and Mrs. James R. Frew of Chapin road, a son and daughter-in-law, and Prothonotary and Mrs. John A. Edgar of Sheridan avenue, a sister and brother-in-law of the hostess.

CASTLE BRIDGE SEES PICTURES OF FLORIDA

Castle Bridge club members were pleasantly entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Leach, Delaware avenue.

Members had been requested to come earlier than usual and when they had assembled Mr. Leach showed for their pleasure moving pictures taken on a recent trip to Florida. The pictures were most enjoyable as the characters were people with whom everyone is acquainted.

Later two tables of bridge formed the pastime and Mrs. Merle Frances, Mrs Clarence Jarret and Mrs Robert Vogan were awarded favors for high scores. Mrs. Robert Gowell captured the galloping trophy. At a late hour the tables were re-arranged and a most delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Charles I. Wetmore of Uniontown, Pa., a former New Castle resident and member of the club was a special guest and was the recipient of a lovely guest favor.

Mrs. F. D Perrine, Moody avenue, will be hostess to the club in two weeks.

MISSIONARY RETIRES FROM BRAZIL SERVICE

Concluding 25 years' faithful and efficient service in Victoria, Brazil, as a missionary representing the Baptist congregation, Mrs. Alice Reno has retired and is spending some time in New Castle.

She and a daughter, Miss Margaret Reno, have been stopping at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. M. L. Hogue, on East Washington street. In September they will go to Lewisburg, Pa., where Miss Reno will enter Bucknell College, having won a scholarship.

Mrs. Reno won distinct recognition and success while in Brazil. Her husband, who was identified with her in missionary work, passed into the Great Beyond about seven years ago in Brazil, and Mrs. Reno continued to carry on until this time.

G. W. C. Club

Members of the G. W. C. club met Thursday evening with Mrs C. C. Coulthard, Morton street, for their regular meeting.

The evening was spent in informal visiting, after which a tempting lunch was served at small tables by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. C. C. Patterson. Mrs. H. Holler received the club prize.

On September 9, Mrs. Robert Russell, Chestnut street, will receive the club in her home.

TWO HUNDRED FIFTY OFFER FELICITATIONS

Two hundred fifty friends and relatives called on Mr. and Mrs. George Myers, of Finch street, to offer their congratulations and best wishes yesterday, their Golden Wedding Day.

Many had also sent flowers and the home was a bower of loveliness. The couple had open house from 2 in the afternon until 9 in the evening and for almost every minute of that time they were kept busy receiving a long line of friends.

A tasty lunch was served to the visitors at a prettily set table after they were welcomed and the aides Mrs. Robert Huston, Mrs. Marion Boulden, Mrs. Clyde Myers and Mrs. William Badger.

A large wedding cake, five tiers high, crowned with a bride and groom in miniature, attracted much attention. The honored couple received numerous handsome gifts, among them a purse of money.

Out-of-town people were numbered among the callers. Mrs. Myer's sister, Mrs. D. W. Clark, was there from Detroit, and there were others from Youngstown, Sharon and places in the vicinity.

Sharing in the occasion, too, were the children of the couple. Clyde Myers and Mrs. M. P. Boulden, and the grandchildren, Bobbie Myers, George and Marion Boulden, this city, and Laura Mae Boulden Long, wife of Vernon Long, Willard, Ohio.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR ELLEN McGOWAN

As a farewell courtesy to Ellen McGowan of Lyndal street, who will leave the first of the month to make her home in Georgia, associates in the J. F. F. club held a lovely dinner party Thursday evening at an inn on the Harlansburg road.

After enjoying a nicely appointed menu throughout which pink and white tones predominated, the group presented Miss McGowan with a beautiful gift. Bridge was played at two tables, the favors falling to Mrs. William J. Davis and Ellen McGowan. The galloping trophy was won by Helen Fulkerson.

September 8, the next regular club session will be held in the home of Helen M. Brown on East Reynolds street.

DOROTHY CLINGAN HONORED AT PARTY

On Wednesday evening, Mrs. William M. Clingan entertained at a surprise farewell party for her daughter Dorothy, who enters the New Castle Hospital Training School for Nurses, September 1.

The hours were spent informally. Prizes for bingo went to Mrs. Francis Frey, and the Misses June Boyd, Dorothy Megan and Helen Campbell. Miss Campbell also enters the same training school on September 1.

At a late hour a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Clingan, assisted by Miss Estella Anderson.

The honored guest received many lovely gifts as tokens of the high esteem in which she is held by her friends.

O. A. O. Club Meets

Members of the O. A. O. club motored to a popular tea room on the Harlansburg road Thursday evening for their meeting instead of going to the home of Mrs. Lloyd Wimer, Beckford street, as originally planned.

After a chicken dinner at 6:30, the hours were spent playing bridge with prizes going to Mrs. Robert Gibson and Mrs. Floyd Kelley.

Mrs. John Zank, Jr., was an honored guest. She will move to Greenville on September 15, and will receive the club in her home on Winslow avenue, for the last time on September 9.

INFORMAL AFFAIR THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. Eugene J. Kennedy, nee Ruth Woodworth, received a few former associates of the Lincoln-Garfield school Thursday afternoon at an informal affair.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock at a table attractive with a color theme of old blue and ivory, with a gay centerpiece of flowers in the same shades, accenting the idea.

Afternoon hours were informal.

MISSIONARY TO RETURN TO INDIA

Miss Elizabeth Hay of this city, a member of the First Baptist church, who has been a missionary in India for a number of years, expects to leave the city September 1 to continue her work in Assam, India.

Miss Hay is now superintendent of the Girls' School of Nowgong, Assam, India.

The members of the First Baptist church and her friends will have the opportunity to bid her farewell after the morning services Sunday, August 29.

IDDINGS REUNION AT LAKEWOOD BEACH

The event brought people from Battle Creek, Mich., Jersey City, N. J., Athens, Mich., Brazil, S. A., Cochranton, Pa., Minneapolis, Minn., Edinboro, Pa., Erie, Ellwood City, and Wampum.

Among the number were: Mrs. Alice Reno and daughter Margaret, who have recently come from Brazil; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tomlinson of Athens, Mich.; Miss Neola Tomlinson, Jersey City, N. J.; Mrs. Frances Rothenberg, Battle Creek, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Reno, Minneapolis, Minn.; Rev. and Mrs. Ivan Rossell, son Ernest, Cochranton, O.; John Reno, daughters, Evelyn and Cora, Edinboro, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. David Reno and son, McKean, Pa.

In the absence of the president and vice president, Rev. Ivan Rossell, of Cochranton, took charge of the business meeting which resulted in the following officers being elected: president, Luther Reed; vice president, A. Curtis Reno; secretary Hazel Reno Earl; treasurer, Aubrey Reno.

Communications were read from Lillian Reed Book of Durham, Cal., Helen Reed of Sharon, and Dr. E. D. McKee of Warren, Pa. Remarks were made by the oldest member, Francis Davis, and Mrs. Alice Reno, a missionary from Brazil.

Charles Reno, Mrs. Mary Dean and Olive Davis were chosen to prepare a history of the reunion for 1938 which will be held at the same place on the fourth Wednesday of August.

A baseball game was the main feature of the afternoon.

Taylor-McClymonds

At a quiet ceremony performed Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the manse of the United Presbyterian church of Plaingrove, Miss Charlotte Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Taylor of Slippery Rock, R. D. 3, became the bride of Charles McClymonds, son of Mr and Mrs. James I. McClymonds, of Portersville, R. D. 2. Rev. J. C. Fulton, pastor of the church read the service.

Her attendant was Miss Sara Eakin, schoolmate of the bride.

Stanley Hines served as best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was held at a hotel in Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. McClymonds are both graduates of Slippery Rock high school. They plan to leave soon for a midwestern trip and on their return will make their home with the groom's parents.

Marsing Club Outing

A corn roast and hamburg fry at Stoughton's Beach were very much enjoyed Thursday evening by the Marsing club members and their husbands.

Roller skating and bicycle riding added to the pleasure of the outing.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Mitchell were special guests.

BIRTHDAY EVENT FOR JOHN M. CARR

Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock a delicious chicken dinner was held in the home of Mrs. Harry Uber, Atlantic avenue, in honor of the birthday of her father, John M. Carr.

He was 75 years of age, eight of those years having been spent in bed. Mr. Carr enjoyed his chicken supper immensely, as his daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Uber and Mrs. Willis Woodruff, made a dining room out of his bedroom.

The table placed by his bed was decorated with beautiful flowers, which were gifts to the honored one, and also a large cake baked by Mrs. John Fred Uber. Places were laid for twelve guests including Mr. Carr's only brother, S. N. Carr, and his only sister, Mrs. Melissa Houston, Mr. Carr's other daughter, Mrs. Elida Ankney and family, of Toledo, O., could not be present, but sent greetings by mail.

After supper and later in the evening, many friends, relatives and neighbors gathered in celebration of the event. Games and music were enjoyed, the latter being contributed by Ralph Woodruff, Short Madison and Mrs. Mechling. Mr. Mechling sang several old fashioned songs, favorites of Mr. Carr.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Uber and Mrs. Woodruff, aided by Phyllis Glasgow and Mary Grim. Before departure, Mr. Carr was extended many more happy wishes for future birthdays.

Out of town guests were: Mellie Carr, Volant; Mrs. Florence Barnes and son, Cecil, of Butler, Mr. and Mrs. John Fred Uber, Rochester, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. John Hollibaugh, Rochester, Pa.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR MARY LOUISE MURPHY

Miss Margaret Mary Maher, of Phillips Place, entertained at a delightful surprise party for her chum, Mary Louise Murphy, Thursday evening. Miss Murphy is leaving in a week to go into nurses' training at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Clinton, Ia.

Games were pastimes of the evening with prizes awarded to Helen Trushel and Mary Louise Murphy.

The honor guest was presented with a lovely gift, after a delicious lunch had been served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Thomas Maher, and Mrs. Oscar Murphy.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE FOR THELMA GORDON

Mrs. J. W. Conway, Wallace avenue, was hostess Thursday at a birthday surprise party in honor of her sister, Thelma Gordon, whose birthday was the twenty-fifth.

Lunch was served in the dining room by the hostess, who was assisted in serving by Mrs. A. Booher and Mrs. Lloyd Shuttf.

The afternoon was spent informally in singing and chatting. Miss Gordon received many lovely and useful gifts from those present.

Truth Seekers Class

Truth Seekers class members of the Nazarene church traveled to the New Wilmington home of Mrs. Marie Wheale Thursday evening and had a very interesting program for the August meeting.

The meeting was opened by two songs, a Bible reading by Mrs. Sarah Downey, and prayers by Mrs. Ruth Furey and Mrs. O. D. Williams.

A tureen dinner is planned by the class for September 16 with Mrs. Sarah Downey at Lakewood.

A part of the evening was devoted to the making of bandages to be sent to India with an outgoing missionary. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Nora McCue and Mrs. Myrtie Connerly.

Special guests were Mrs. Minnie McAlen, Mrs. Connerly, Mrs. Myrtie Connerly and Audrey McAllen.

At Relatives' Homes

Visiting in the homes of several relatives here this week were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tomlinson of Athens, Mich., and their daughter Neola, of Jersey City, N. J., and Mrs. Frances Rothenberg, of Battle Creek, Mich. They stopped at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weinschenk, Savannah Gardens; Mrs. Mary Wright Dean, Walnut street; Mrs. Carrie Ailey, Knox avenue.

Q. A. C. Club.

Q. A. C. club members and their families had a corn and wiener roast at the home of Mrs. Fred Stickle, Slate street, Thursday evening.

The group was entertained with a tap dance by Darlene Bova and a clog dance by Tommy Stickle. Mrs. Frank Williamson was a special guest.

September 9 the club will meet with Mrs. Charles Micco, West Washington street, and on September 2 will have breakfast at Cascade park.

A DASH OF BEAUTY

IT MAY not have a definite bearing on the Sino-Japanese question, nor will it help to solve difficulties in Spain, but at any rate the State Labor Department of New York has reached the momentous conclusion that beauty is a distinct aid to digestion.

"A restaurant devoid of feminine charm is becoming as rare as a cigar store Indian," the department stated following a survey. It found that cafeterias and lunchrooms are following the general trend in the restaurant field of hiring only attractive waitresses and that many who were formerly satisfied with competent "plain Janes" are now insisting on beauty as well as good experience.

And, in keeping with this train of thought, there are specific demands for certain kinds of physical beauty. Small lunchrooms, waffle and sandwich shops are demanding short girls for the modern low counter, and large restaurants insist that their hostesses be at least five feet, nine inches in height and beautiful. Tall girls are considered "sufficiently impressive" to handle impatient diners successfully.

And that isn't all, for the department also noted an increased demand for men with "exceptional grace and charm" in the beauty salons, and that some shops even specify that their male operators must be "unattached" and "personable."

Well, well, now, what do you think of that? A girl must be tall and beautiful in order to direct a customer to his table, and a male beauty shop operator must be single and have sex appeal in order to fix up a curl or twist a permanent. And the end is not in sight. We shall probably live to see the day when men will tint their hair and wear smocks on the street, and women will occupy the barber shops almost exclusively. There is only one hopeful note. Not too many women can grow beards, and there are only a few who have been able to master the art of chewing tobacco.

BE YOURSELF

The price of autumn and the fall is the end of summer. In exchange for the calm and ordered and moderate days, the sedate and mature days, of September and October we must give up the boisterous and vationing and carefree days of June, July and August. It is a trade which will appeal to persons who like weather they can depend upon, who gladly give up the strenuous and irresponsible days of the summer for the dignity of a less temperamental season.

We have had rain and wind and fog and chill reminiscent of early spring or late fall. It leads us to offer this advice to September: Be yourself. Be not like April, weeping one moment, laughing the next. Be not like November or March, with chill winds blowing and cold rains falling, but be September, with the beginning of these golden days which alone compensate for the loss of summer and the prospect of the coming winter.

TICKLERS FROM VERMONT

Experts at Middlebury college come forward with the finding that Vermont humor is the 'best in the world." Here are a couple of samples:

A city slicker asked a Vermont farmer about snakes. "Well," said the farmer, "I never heard of anyone being much improved by being bitten by a snake."

Calvin Coolidge once inquired of his egg dealer: "What sort of poultry are you raising these days—robins?"

Now, if you have not already fallen out of your chair in gales of laughter, tell us this:

LONG BRANCH, N. J.—Tommy Farr answers a warning that he is likely to be felled by Joe Louis in short order:

"You may rest asured I will not walk out to meet him with my chin exposed."

NEW YORK—Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine comes to the defense of two policemen who fatally wounded an 18-year-old youth as he fled with a stolen pair of pants:

"Policemen who answer cries of 'hold-up' have no time to ask a fleeing suspect for his birth certificate."

HOLLYWOOD—Irene Dunne reveals her preference for reality:

"Press agents surround one with so many assertions of happiness that it is wonderful to have at least one person, my husband, ask if I really am, and then do something to keep me that way."

NEW YORK—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia sounds the knell of the vanishing burlesque queen:

"In my opinion burlesque is definitely on the way out and it is by no means certain that licenses of burlesque houses here will be renewed."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

INFLUENCE OF RADIO

The radio, like many other recent inventions, has great possibilities for effectual education and home recreation. Sometimes it educates in directions not desirable, and affords recreation which we parents disapprove. But always we have the privilege to turn the dial, or have it turned.

Nevertheless, in most homes children over six either persuade their parents to allow them to listen to what these youngsters like most or adjust the dial themselves, regardless of their parents' wishes or forbiddings. Or, disallowed to tune in on certain programs at home, these children may go to hear them in a neighbor's home—adding serious complications.

If your child or mine listens in to programs we are sure are harmful to him, we might as well admit that we have failed seriously in parental control somewhere along the line. For our own children's sake I see no good reason why we should put the blame on the broadcasting station. But if we are socially minded and have regard for the children in homes where parental control is not well established—that means most homes, I suppose—we have a moral obligation to protest vigorously.

No Radio At Meals

The more fundamental problem, however, is the one of parent education for reasonable parental control. Unfortunately, as I see it, most parent educators, in books and articles and lectures, not only have ignored restraints essential to control, but have condemned each control as dangerous to the child's personality. Imagine a parent keeping a child of eight from a blood-curdling program by appealing to his reason!

Where there are very young children, let there be only soft, quiet music of good quality while they are awake; the same for the family at meals—preferably no radio then.

Worst harm from radio seems to come in homes where a station is dialed and allowed to run on loudly and continuously, willy nilly. Wise parents make it a rule to dial intelligently and never to have the radio on when conversation is likely or desirable.

We parents ought to be able to cultivate taste for good music in our children by beginning to expose them very, very young to the best. And there is much good music on the air.

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

THE PATH WE TAKE

I do not know the way. The path before me is dark, and beset with dangers.

I have not been this way before and I cannot tell what great peaks I must climb, through what deep canyons I must struggle.

The road is difficult and I do not know the trial it will make of what strength, what courage, is mine.

Those who have gone before have not returned. They have written their stories, they have sent back word to us—and sometimes they have warned us and encouraged us, but sometimes they have been bitter and savage and despairing...But all I know is that they have gone ahead of us and have surmounted the great peaks and have at last achieved their destination.

And as I walk this road I am conscious of their presence. They made it broader here than it was. And here they have set up a warning. And here they have lifted a great boulder from the path. They have made it a little easier for us who follow.

I do not think that any of them, even the brutal and pessimistic, have made it any harder...Because by their lives, too, they have warned us against making the very mistakes that were theirs.

As I move steadily, step by step, I think of those behind, as yet unborn. I confess I do not think of them as often as I should. The day's adventures fill my mind and it is only at the end of the day's journey, as we sit warmed and rested in the firelight, that I have time to think of them.

Then I know that as those others have widened and made more safe for me this path I follow, so must I, in my small way, do the same thing. I must not, even if I could, make it too safe. I must not take the danger and the uncertainty from it. I must help to make it easier, but not tame and uneventful. They will not thank me if I laid a pit before their feet, but they would curse me if I smoothed the path too well and took the adventure and the challenge out of this Road of Life.

So I rise in another dawn and roll my blankets and take up my staff and go forth along the road, with the sun on my back, through another day of living.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

PEOPLE are interested more in being good conversationalists than in anything else.

"What shall I talk about when out in company?" is one of the most frequently asked questions found in my correspondence.

I cannot issue any magic formula that will overnight change a silent, shy person into an interesting raconteur. Conversational spell-binders are born and not made. But we should all have a supply of "small talk" ready for interludes of embarrassing silence.

At such moments try to open a conversational channel by mentioning a good movie or play you have seen or a good book you have read. Make an effort to contribute your share to the conversation. Cultivate the art of self-expression by accumulating knowledge of current events by reading the newspapers, the latest books and magazines, seeing the latest moving pictures. People who neither read nor keep abreast of what is going on in the world have little to discuss. Those who say too little are as boresome as those who talk too much.

On the other hand, do not become a jabberer. Think before you speak and express your thoughts in your best English. Fast talkers become tiresome.

If you are self-conscious in conversation, a course in public speaking will be of inestimable benefit to you.

Japan Seizes Advantage.
Other Nations Preoccupied.
Insults Are Being Ignored.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

JAPAN, OF COURSE, caught the other nations at a disadvantage. They all are otherwise preoccupied. They cannot even protect their own interests in Shanghai. Even the Soviet Union cannot aid China to any extent. Its western front is none too secure.

But may not Japan itself be caught at a disadvantage? If Japan lowers its living standards much more will it, too, not be preoccupied at home?

On the other hand, "Dictator" Chiang Kai-Shek who had lost control of a large part of China and the Chinese Communists, finds himself strengthened and his nation united again. If he can continue to have the severest fighting centered on Shanghai, where every nation is involved, he may gain funds throughout the world and bring China into her own again. He is willing, doubly willing, to compromise with the Chinese Communists on that. After all, who will save China except the Chinese Communists?

* * *

NEW BRITISH POLICY

Unquestionably, the Chinese are sorely hurt that the United States and Great Britain have "deserted" them.

But what could either one of these great democratic nations do?

Assuredly, a president who involved the United States in a war anywhere abroad would be cast from office.

And the same applies to a British prime minister. Neville Chamberlain, Britain's prime minister, is so apprehensive over foreign affairs that he virtually handles all decisions himself, leaving Foreign Minister Anthony Eden merely the formality of words.

The Fascists have become so bold as to sink British cargo vessels off Spain and to snap their fingers at Britain's warnings.

Japanese, in bombing Shanghai, set fire to Britain's greatest oil tanks in the Far East, and there is barely a protest.

France is even more reserved. Why? Is democracy running before fascism?

* * *

DEMOCRACY AT HOME

No—democracy is not running. It is winning, at home; and, winning at home, expects democracy to win elsewhere, by contrast.

The democratic nations have taken a leaf from the World war.

President Wilson, it will be recalled, had his New Freedom program much as President Roosevelt has his New Deal. President Wilson was drawn into the World war, and the New Freedom went by the boards. Liberals assert that social progress was set back in the United States for perhaps two decades.

Still worse occurred in Europe. Bankruptcy and intolerance, as bad in some countries as in the middle ages, swept many nations. The entire world was cast into gloom.

By the greatest effort France and Great Britain have prevented themselves from being engulfed. But they need another five years of peace. No matter the taunts, they must have peace.

And they believe, as does the United States, that in the end the violent countries will not have won, but will themselves be torn by violent regeneration. And their heart-sick people will hold out their hands in supplication to the democratic peoples. For they will realize that their common enemy is one and the same—not other nations, not other creeds, but blind reaction, brutal intolerance, vicious greed.

In the meantime, however, many innocent perish. The automatoms sent to conquer other nations lay down their lives as well as the lives of the conquered—but as deluded victims. Can the sunlight of democracy penetrate this delusion? That is the major question of the moment in the democratic countries.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MUCH WATER NEEDED

The increasing use of air-conditioning apparatus in the United States with a resulting demand for increasingly large quantities of water, much of which when used once is discharged into sewage systems is a matter of growing concern to officials of many municipal governments.

Installations of air-conditioning units have increased approximately 1,400 per cent from 1933 to the end of 1936 and horse-power increased from 168,880 at the end of 1932 to 432,796 at the end of 1936, yet the trend of air-conditioning sales continues upward more sharply than in any past year. Consequently, the need for water for this purpose is a matter of serious consideration to manufacturers and city water authorities alike.

Thirty-eight of the ninety-two cities of 100,000 population or more reported upon this study, informed the Department of Commerce that steps had already been taken or were being considered to limit the use of water-using air-conditioning equipment.

Because of the limited sewage capacity in the loop district of Chicago, the installation of water-using air-conditioning plants which are not equipped with a cooling tower or otherwise equipped to obviate the necessity of discharging water into the sewage system is being discouraged, it was stated.

Certain cities including Atlanta, Ga.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Columbus, Ohio; Dallas, Texas; St. Paul, Minn.; Scranton, Pa.; and South Bend, Ind., are now using the full capacity of their systems and are not in a position to furnish additional water until the systems have been enlarged.

Many other large cities throughout the United States, are now using from seventy-five per cent to ninety per cent of available water capacity and could not readily furnish additional large quantities of water for purposes other than those now using water without arranging for increased capacity. Obviously, since demand for air-conditioning equipment is a growing factor cities will be forced to provide more capacity. This condition evidences a potential market for millions of dollars worth of water works equipment and sanitary works equipment as well as building and other materials.

TWO MARVELS

She thought him handsome, big and strong,
Such stylish garb he wore,
So prettily he hummed a song
Upon the ballroom floor;
So light of foot he seemed to be
When'er they shared a waltz
The maiden never dreamed that he Had weaknesses and faults.

He never saw her wear a frown.
Whene'er he called, she seemed
The loveliest maiden in the town
Whose eyes with laughter gleamed.
To be with her was perfect bliss,
As frequently he said.
He never thought so fair a miss
Had folly in her head.

"Perhaps," her father used to say
"He's very much like me
And will do things from day to day
You'll be ashamed to see."
"Why, dad, he's marvelous-" she'd cry
"No wrong he'd ever do."
"Yes, yes," he said, "in days gone by
I was a marvel, too."

His mother questioned: "Are you sure
That all those charms you see
Will through the passing years endure?
Perhaps she'll change like me."
"Why she's divine!" he whispered low
"I've asked her to be mine."
"Yes," said the mother, "years ago
I used to be divine."

FRIDAY, AUGUST, 27.

Once Upon Aug. 27th.—Today is the anniversary of the beginning of civilization in the west.

Christianity, the Roman alphabet and calendar, etc., eventually became the heritage of Americans because on Aug. 27, 55 B. C., Julius Caesar landed in Britain.

The classic historian Plutarch wrote:

"His (Caesar's) expedition into Britain was the most famous testimony of his courage. For he was the first who brought a navy into the western ocean, or who sailed into the Atlantic with an Army to make war; and....carried the Roman empire beyond the limits of the known world."

Caesar was attracted to Britain by a pearl fishery he had heard was there. The pearls proved, however, of little value, on account of their dark and livid color.

Besides improved roads, baths, spices, wines, and many other things the Romans introduced the idea of coinage to Britons and the west. For they naturally took along some of their money.

In Rome, it was a pleasure to count sheep while trying to go to sleep, for the Romans in minting the first coined money used the figure of a sheep as its design.

When the first ascent of a hydrogen balloon was made, in France on August 27, 1783, Benjamin Franklin was among the spectators. A companion said, "Balloons are pretty, but what good are they?" Franklin

Republicans Start Cleaning House For Presidential Drive

By ARTHUR HACHTEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Certain forces in the Republican party, including Senator Borah of Idaho, have launched a movement to toss what they consider the present "reactionary" leaders out of their key positions, it was learned Thursday.

The plans embrace calling a convention some time before next year's elections. In effect, the purpose is to take over the party, inject new blood in its upper counsels and rebuild the G. O. P., with an appeal to the masses that it has been "purged" of old guard control.

Definite announcement of a program is being delayed pending further conversations between the promoters, who believe that only through a general house-cleaning can the party stage a comeback.

The series of conferences which John D. M. Hamilton, Republican national chairman, has begun with state chairmen and other officials, have left some of the powerful figurges in the party cold. That was the reaction of prominent Republican progressives in congress.

Need Cleaning

Senator Borah, cool toward the party's national ticket last year, feels that a thorough house-cleaning is necessary to restore confidence of the people in the party. His intimates revealed him as being enthusiastically in favor of a revolution within the party.

The Idahoan is considering suggestions that a call be issued for a Republican convention, possibly at Chicago. Republicans in favor of setting up a new organization would be invited to attend.

That this move would attract a huge following and force capitulation by some of the ancient wheelhorses in the party, men who were at the helm in recent election debacles, was confidently forecast.

Republicans returned to congress in the face of Democratic landslides revealed privately they were dissatisfied in not having a greater part in shaping the policies of the party.

Good Philosophy

Senator Borah told friends that, in his opinion, such old-time leaders as Charles D. Hilles, national committeeman for New York, should be ousted for the good of the party.

There are prominent persons in the party, who prosper through defeats as well as successes at the polls, as Borah views the set-up. As long as these persons are in control of the party machinery, they are satisfied, he believes.

The uprising within the G. O. P., at a time when leaders generally are sensing an opportunity to revive the party, came as a jarring note. That President Roosevelt is "slipping" politically and discord reigns in the Democratic party, was the general view of Republican leaders here.

Not Sanguine

But the Borah faction is not sanguine over Republican possibilities for capitalizing the division in the Democratic ranks, unless the Republican party moves to extinguish discontent within its own ranks.

Should the proposed convention materialize, it would portend a split of wide proportions in the Republican party. Political observers noted this development in the face of the tangled situation developing on the Democratic side.

You can still get rich if you know what stocks to buy if you know what Roosevelt will do if you guess right about war.

A free land is one where each citizen's ethical rating is revealed by the kind of laws he breaks.

Dynamite Blows Out Tires On Machine Today But Does Not Cause Wreck

With an automobile travelling down Sampson street at 75 miles per hour, the tires were purposely blown out, this morning at 10 o'clock, and instead of a bad accident resulting, nothing happened.

The demonstrations were arranged by The Merit Oil company, local dealers for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company. These demonstrations proved that blowout accidents at high speed need not result in accident, but that when the car is equipped with Goodyear Lifeguard tubes, the driver can bring the car to a safe stop, without even a swerve.

Dynamite caps placed in the tires and controlled from the dashboard by the driver caused the blowouts, both to the front and rear tires.

The front and rear tires were also blown when the car was run over a plate studded with huge railway spikes and placed in the center of the roadway. The casings were ripped wide open but the car continued to hold the center of the road without a swerve.

The lifeguard tube is an ingenius arrangement, a tire within a tube, which prevents all of the air escaping when a blowout occurs.

The machine was driven down Sampson street with E. M. Koffroth of Akron, O., at the wheel. According to Koffroth the car was going at a 75 mile an hour rate when it was subjected to the blowouts.

Quite a large audience of interested spectators were on hand for the demonstration this morning.

St. Joseph Church Branch Completes Plans For Annual Outing

At the meeting last evening of Branch 467, L. C. B. A. of St. Joseph's church, plans were completed for their annual picnic, which will take place on Sunday, August 29 at the Enon Valley picnic grove. It will be in the form of a basket picnic for the members, their families and friends.

Various entetainments have been arranged for the afternoon and in the evening music and singing will be enjoyed. In case the weatherman does not favor with fair weather, plans have been made to accommodate the crowd. Those who desire transportation should be at the corner of Lawrence and South Jefferson street at 1:30 p. m.

In addition to the committee already named the following will serve: Mary E. Costello, Elaine McCombs, Helen Metz and Isabel Pardick on the juvenile entertainment committee; Mrs. Frances Colao, Mrs. Clara Thomas and Mrs. Marie Kelley on the ladies entertainment committee and Charles Kelley and John Seger on the refreshment committee.

Only One Admission Period For School Beginners Law Says

Pupils Who Are Six Years Of Age Before February 1 Can Start Term

Announcement was made this morning by County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Syling, that the law governing the admission of beginners to the public schools has been changed this year.

Where the school boards do not designate more than one admission period, pupils who become six years of age after the first of February, will not be able to enter school until the start of the term the next September.

The law specifies "that admission of beginners shall be confined to a single admission period at the beginning of the school term, unless otherwise povided by the school board, and all children who will be six years of age before February 1, shall be admitted during this period."

District Officer Inspects Local Naval Station

John W. Marts, Jr., Lieutenant United States Navy, in charge of the local recruiting district of the navy, was in New Castle Thursday, to inspect the local recruiting station in the post office building.

Lieutenant Marts, commented to Maurice L. Nixon, local recruiting officer on the excellent condition in which the office was kept and also on the fine building in which the headquarters were housed.

The average American family now has three and a half members, and you know who the half is.

Black and White

Black and white are high in favor again this autumn. Terry Walker is the young woman wearing this striking full-skirted dress with a wide belt of black grosgrain, and a slashed shoulder treatment into which crisp ruffles of white lace are inserted. The white accent proves flattering around the neckline and wrists, and Miss Walker's accessories are black.

INVENTORS SEEK TO MAKE WORLD A SAFE PLACE

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla.—Making work easier and the world a safer place to live in are the chief objectives of a National Inventors' club which has been organized here with 50 men as members.

The club aims to create a revolving fund to assist inventors thruout the country in developing their inventions, to assist inventors in securing and protecting patterns and to manufacture inventions to a point where they can be properly demonstrated to show their merchandizing possibilities.

100 Inventions Represented.

More than 100 inventions are represented among the charter members, such as a safety airplane, known as a "citizen's ship", disappearing mechanical rabbits for dog race tracks which would eliminate the canvas curtains used to stop the dogs after a race, trick lawn mower, dry cell battery rechargers and disappearing roller screens for windows.

The club took out a charter under Florida state laws but with permission for national expansion.

1937 CHICAGO FURNITURE MART FLOOR SAMPLES--DISPLAY PIECES

Living Room, Bedroom, Dining Room, Odd Pieces !

Each Piece of Extra Quality and Design — Exhibition Pieces

Emanuel Shenkan, President

TO THE PUBLIC:

Most business men speculate. Many gamble on the Stock Market. Gambling on the Stock Market to me, however, is a precarious business—perhaps it is because I know so very little about it. Furniture however, has been my lifelong interest and I like to think that I do know something about it. So recently, when the opportunity presented itself to purchase a portion of the Chicago Furniture Market Sample Stock I decided to speculate—the winnings in which all may participate. I'm really no gambling man, but I'd gamble any day on a sure shot like this.

Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek Gives Her Viewpoint On Sino-Jap Warfare

(Editor's Note: Japan's jealousy of China's progress and enlightened nationalism is directly responsible for the grave situation which has now arisen in the Far East, according to Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of the dictator of China and herself commander-in-chief of the Chinese air force.

In the following trenchant article, written exclusively for International News Service, the American-educated leader of Chinese women sets forth her views of the conflict.)

By MME. CHIANG KAI-SHEK

(Copyright, 1937, by International News Service)
(Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

NANKING, Aug. 27.—Because the Chinese people have done no more than endeavor to live their own lieves in peace and transform the chaotic aftermath or revolution into unified order and progress, they are being slaughtered wherever the Japanese can get at them.

But even more, Japan bitterly resents China assuming the status of a unified nation or an economically-organized and sound one. The progress of China is not only anathema to her but the thought of it enrages her to fury.

Seize Territory

Japan seizes Chinese territory while the whole world gazes at the spectacle. She recently assembled a great fleet in the Whangpoo river which is Shanghai's harbor, and cleared the ships of that fleet for action.

When the excuse was considered ample, she used them under the shelter of foreign men-of-war to cannonade hundreds of thousands of innocent Chinese out of their homes and cause the flight of thousands of foreigners from their peaceful pursuits in the adjoining part of the international settlement.

China Fighting

China is fighting on her own soil for defense of her hearth, homes and honor, just as any self-respecting nation has the right and duty to do. And she is not afraid.

Japan may be organized as a fighting machine, but China has found her soul and will defend her people's rights.

China has conceded so much in the past. She has suffered and been insulted. She has accepted much humiliation. She even endured the violent rape of Manchuria, to the wonderment of the world, but only because she wished to put her own house in order and to effect national unity and a peace and prosperity which surely would have been participated in by the whole world.

Wonderful Strides

The wonderful strides she making toward this end were much for Japanese army leaders who saw in an organized China frustration of their long-cherished ambition—to erect at China's expense a continental empire from where they could defy the whole world.

They struck soon because they deemed the time propitious and because if they delayed it might be too late.

Again I say that China must suffer. But she is unafraid, feeling that what Japan is doing is against the laws of both God and nature.

Justice has disappeared from practical politics if the signatories of solemn treaties can calmly contemplate war being inflicted upon an innocent and weak people without protest or restraint.

China Not Afraid

Retribution still will surely come in time as punishment for those who inflict the evil that is now vomiting death and destruction widespread about this land.

To the people of America, and especially the women, I say China will do her best to save herself and uphold her honor.

China knows only too well the horrors that confront her and the suffering that lies ahead.

But China is not afraid.

School Principal Called By Death

(International News Service)

PHILIPSBURG, Pa., Aug. 27.—Harry Oliver Carin, 63, supervising principal of Philipsburg schools for the past ten years, died suddenly on Thursday from a lung hemorrhage after an illness of six months. He was a teacher for more than two score years.

SHOOTER HELD FOR JAIL WITHOUT BAIL

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 27.—Walter L. Rader, 47, of Madison street, who went on a drunken shooting spree Tuesday, and wounded his wife, Mary, 41, their son, Walter, Jr., 7, and Police Sergeant Lloyd Van Cise, was held for court without bond today, after he waived a hearing before Alderman A. C. Lewis.

Correct this sentence: "Those senators who voted against the president," said Mr. Farley, "need have no fear of reprisals."

SLAYER IS HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER

CORRY, Pa., Aug. 27.—Archie Bemis, 36, Corry, was charged with murder today, in connection with the death of John P. Haeufle, 41, Cincinnati, O. Bemis was returned here from the county jail at Erie and arraigned before Alderman C. B. Porter on the murder charge.

Bemis confessed to police he killed Haeufle, whom he mistook for his wife's paramour. He admitted he had never seen Haeufle until the time of shooting.

To Wed King Farouk

MLLE. SASI NAZ

A commoner, Mlle. Sazi Naz, 16, whose name means "The Pure Rose," soon will become formally engaged to King Farouk I of Egypt, who is 18. In the opinion of many Egyptians, Mlle. Naz would become Egypt's "most beautiful queen since Cleopatra."

AROUND CITY HALL

Attorney Gilbert E. Long has advised city council that it is not necessary for the council to pass an ordinance granting permission for the staging of movies at the Cathedral. He said that the Cathedral at the time the zoning ordinance was passed (1925) was used as an amusement place which obviates the necessity of such an ordinance. The officials of the Cathedral sometime ago asked council to pass such an ordinance because the auditorium there will be used next month for "movie" purposes.

WPA employes will have laid paving from Englewood avenue to Fairmont avenue by nightfall. At 8 a. m. today one of the men in charge of the work, said the block north of Fairmont avenue was ready for the top surface providing rain does not fall today.

Hand labor will be eliminated when excavation begins in Crawford avenue, where a sanitary sewer will be laid between Brooklyn and Croton avenue, a distance of more than 1,000 feet. When the work starts the New Castle street railway will operate cars to and from Croton avenue via Walnut street.

How to abolish war? Well, woman suffrage wasn't delayed by male opposition but by the indiffertnce of most women.

New 'Paramount' Opens Saturday

Theatergoers To See Handsome Show House In Place Of Dome

RENOVATION WORK NEARS END TODAY

Handsomely renovated from door to door, the beautiful Paramount, New Castle's newest theater at 310 East Washington street, which heretofore operated as the Dome, opens to the theater-going public on Saturday, August 28, at 1 p. m.

Since last Saturday night, when a corps of workmen plunged into the job of transforming the interior into a magnificent show house, the pounding of hammers and buzz of saws has echoed all about the place. But all the work will be finished for the opening tomorrow.

Thomas J. Masters, long a theater operator, owns and operates the new Paramount and today he took a reporter on an inspection of the many improvements.

He told the newsman:

"We've made extensive changes—the seats and the lighting—everything! We want to give the public the best that can be given."

Rush Finishing Touches.

Groups of men were busy everywhere, polishing up the theater for its public debut. When patrons step inside the entrance Saturday for the first time they'll find one of the most attractive show houses they would ever wish to see. It will be air-conditioned, too.

Mr. Masters himself developed the modernistic designs for the theater's seats, carpet and its lighting fixtures—designs which will win wide approval from all who see them. They are artistic and rich in color and give the auditorium a handsome touch.

Saturday's opening crowd will witness the film, "Nobody's Baby", as the feature attraction.

Body Of Woman Is Found Slain

Body Is Trussed With Wire And Stuffed Into Barrel By Killer

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Trussed with wire and stuffed into a barrel, the body of an attractive woman, about 30, was found today wedged between jagged rocks lining the banks of the East river.

Nearby lay a dismantled automobile radio which apparently had furnished the wire that bound the victim.

There was no immediate clue to the woman's identity nor was cause of death immediately apparent.

Beat His Sister, Man Is Arrested

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Charged with beating his 19-year-old sister with leather starps, Charles Campizi, 29, a WPA worker, was held in $1,000 bail for the grand jury today.

The sister, Nancy, told police her brother beat her because she got tired of giving him $13 of her $16 weekly salary.

Admitting he beat his sister, Campizi said:

Man Injured In Auto Mishap On Youngstown Road

Machine Leaves Road Near Scotland Lane Striking Stone Steps

A man whose name was given as Carl J. Burdette was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital following an automobile accident on the Youngstown road, shortly after noon today.

A report from the hospital stated that Burdette suffered a slight concussion, but is not believed to be in a serious condition.

The machine in which he was riding was headed towards New Castle, when it ran off the right side of the road and struck a set of stone steps in front of the home of James Hasely, near Scotland Lane. The car overturned after striking the steps.

The car was badly damaged and another person riding in the machine received slight injuries to the head.

BUILDING REPORT

Office Opens 579 Security Accounts

Local Federal Branch Reports That Many New Numbers Issued

The New Castle field office of the United States Social Security Board issued 579 new security account numbers from August 3 to 26, it was announced this morning. The office has also been receiving an increasing number of claims.

Manager Weiland J. Michael was out of the city today on another round of contacts with employers.

The local office serves Lawrence and three other counties.

A Labor Board examiner said of a witness: "He will testify as I want him to testify." This is the board that isn't one-sided.

Divorce Court Is In Session Today

One Case Is Withdrawn, Others Being Heard By Judges Chambers And Braham

Divorce court is being held today by Judges James A. Chambers and W. Walter Braham. There are twenty-six cases before the court, one, that of Erma A. Bellnap against Herbert W. Bellnap, having been withdrawn. In the great majority of the cases divorces are asked for either desertion or cruelty, and the testimony is very much the same in each class of cases. Circumstances of desertions and dates are given, and in the cruelty cases the specific acts which led up to the filing of charges are detailed.

Cases before Judge James A. Chambers, in court room No. 1 are as follows: Frances McKibben against J. Newell McKibben; J. A. Miller against Margaret Miller; Mary Costello against Albert E. Costello; Elnora Irene Donley against Homer George Donley; William N. Collins against Myrtle Collins; Bernardine Mariacher against Edward F. Mariacher; Getrude Hazen against Warren Hazen; Bertha M. Richardson against William J. Richardson; Josephine Smolinski against John Smolinski; Irene Clark against Richland Clark and William T. MacMurdo against Nellie MacMurdo; Josephine Dennis against Joe Dennis and Violet Sternquist against Oscar W. Sternquist.

Cases before Judge W. Walter Braham in court room No. 2 are as follows: Clara E. Bovard against Arthur Paul Bovard; Harold Park against Clara O. Park; Arlie O. Shifflet against Hilda M. Shifflet; Wilson J. Kiser against Irene Kiser; Robert Dolan against Mary H. Dolan; Carrie Bailey against Harry A. Bailey; Mable Ellen Weaver against James Arthur Weaver; Mary Ann Miscunic against Mike P. Miscunic; Esther Fulmer against Harry E. Fulmer; Mildred G. McCracken against H. Claude McCracken; Emma McKay Supplee against Alex. Lloyd Supplee; Edward E. Cross against Mildred E. Cross, and Eleanor Webb against James H. Webb.

Chambers Host At Lakewood Beach

Motor Concern's Outing Takes Crowd Of 150 There Thursday

With two exciting mushball games, horseshoe contests, foot races and other sports headlining the afternoon and with a delicious picnic dinner at 6 at night, over 150 employes and officials of the Chambers Motor Company and their families participated Thursday in the Chambers firm's annual outing at Lakewood Beach.

The main shop defeated the body department in the first mushball tilt and the sales department defeated the main shop in the last game. In the general drawing, Mrs. James Armstrong won the ladies' first prize and John Reynolds the men's first prize.

T. E. Chambers, official of the concern, was general chairman. His aides were Frank Bowers, R. R. States, H. L. Owens, H. C. Moore, James Kerr, John Whalen, Ralph Newingham, Harry Armstrong and Frank McKinley.

Correct this sentence: "Our men weren't doing a thing," said the leader "when the other side jumped on them."

"Graveyard Tanker" Smashes Blockade

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug 27—The Philadelphia maritime exchange was notified today that the "Graveyard Tanker" oilfield slipped thru the Spanish rebel blockade and reached the loyalist capital of Valencia with 2,500,000 gallons of gasoline from a refinery here.

America's interest in the Spanish war is academic. You can't get excited about a war you aren't paying for.

O. R. C. Group Have Annual Picnic On Thursday Evening

O. R. C. Auxiliary And Their Families Gather At Local Home For Outing

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Olmstead entertained members of the O. R. C. auxiliary and their families, Thursday evening, as they gathered at their home on Fifth street for a basket picnic.

Covers were laid for forty guests, at two long tables arranged on the lawn of the Olmstead home. Baskets of colorful garden flowers formed attractive centerpieces for the tables, laden with good things.

After a delicious menu had been served a program of games was enjoyed during the evening hours making the time most enjoyable. Walter Waid climaxed the events of the evening, with an exhibition of fancy bicycle riding. One visitor was present and joined in the fun of the evening, Sam Hall, of Salem, Ohio.

The committee in charge of the arrangements included the following: Mrs. F. E. Flowers, Mrs. W. W. Waid, Mrs. H. S. Gillespie, Mrs. M. R. Olmstead, and Mrs. W. P. McGrath, F. E. Flowers, W. W. Waid and M. R. Olmstead.

Charles Pitzer Home On Leave From U. S. Navy

Seventh Ward Youth Home On Visit—Now Has Rating Of Torpedo Man

Charles Robert Pitzer is now at his home in the ward on a 30-day leave of absence from the United States naval service.

Pitzer enlisted in the service thru the local office on August 22, 1934, and has been stationed aboard the U. S. S. McCormick which is now docked at San Diego, Calif.

Pitzer has been given the rank of torpedo man aboard this ship. The U. S. S. McCormick just recently returned from a cruise which carried the local man to Alaska and to Honolulu and many other interesting places.

He will return to his ship at San Diego on September 17.

PURSE PLAYFULLY THROWN OUT OF TAXI BY BABY

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O.—Donald DeVrille is but 18 months old, but he has already shown a spendthrift attitude that has his parents worried.

Riding in a taxicab with his mother, Mrs. J. F. DeVrille, Donald became fascinated by her purse. After examining it carefully he became interested in something else, and, baby fashion, dropped the purse out of the window.

Stopping the cab and returning to the scene, Mrs. DeVrille was told by bystanders that two small boys on bicycles had picked up the purse and ridden off.

The purse contained $50.

COLLIE ATTENDS CHURCH REGULARLY

(International News Service)

LONGMEADOW, Mass.—"Rusty," a collie with religion attends church every Sunday.

"Rusty" usually attends the seven o'clock mass with his master, John W. Holland, every Sunday. While Holland is inside the dog remains outside on the steps. If his master decides on a later mass the dog barks until let out of the house and permitted to go to church.

At any time between start of the first mass at St. Mary's church to the end of the last mass "Rusty" can be found sitting on the steps.

Never yet has a child or grown-up been spoiled by getting exactly what he earned and deserved.

File Suits Over Auto Accidents

Bus Company Is Defendant In Action Brought By Clarksville Woman

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Myrtle Jarrett of Clarksville filed suit in common please court here today to collect $20,000. The defendant in the action is the West Ridge Transportation company. The bill of complaint filed with Prothonotary John Barnes sets forth that on October 27, 1936, the plaintiff, a passenger in the company bus to Sharon, was injured when the bus collided with a motor car on Sharpsville street in Sharon.

It is alleged in the bill that the bus was operated at a high rate of speed without proper control, violating the state statutes. It is further alleged that since the accident, which has incapacitated her, she has been put to a lengthy bill of expense in doctoring and been forced to hire help.

The plaintiff is a former county commissioner. She served out the unexpired term of her husband on his demise. Her husband, D. J. Jarrett, served as the high sheriff of the county prefacing his election as a commissioner.

Paul Rainey sues D. C. Porter to collect $400 for an automobile accident of February 6, 1937, near Grove City. Both are residents of Grove City. The suit is to collect damages for the car.

Alma Breese, of Grove City, has brought a suit against Helen Darcangelo of the same place to recover $2,000 personal and $211 property damages. She claims that last May 19 she was operating her automobile in Broad street, Grove City, and when she was making a turn into Spruce street, her car was struck by the Darcangelo machine, driven by Benjamin Darcangelo, a son of the plaintiff. She states that as a result of the collision she received numerous injuries.

HIGH CLASS BEARS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—The bears in Highland Park Zoo are going high class. After Sept. 4, the bruins will be housed in new quarters which cost $100,000 and took more than a year to build.

A great man has no friends, but only followers who will let him step in a hole rather than tell him he is on the wrong track.

HAY FEVER VICTIMS MAY GET RELIEF

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—Hay fever addicts may yet be able to sniff contentedly here.

A ragweed harvest was made here by 30 workers, acting under orders of J. W. McGowan, assistant state national youth administration director.

For the information of immunes, ragweed is numbered among the hay fever sufferer's worst enemies.

God Condemns Intemperance

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Proverb 21:1—"Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler; and whosoever erreth thereby is not wise."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for August 29 is Leviticus 10:1, 2, 8-11; Proverbs 31:4, 5; Isaiah 28:1-8; Romans 14:21, the Golden Text being Prov. 21:1, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink a brawler; and whosoever erreth thereby is not wise.")

While there may be wide difference of opinion as to the best methods of handling the problem, there is no disputing the evils and perils of intemperance and drunkenness. There is nothing essentially new about the problem. It is as old as the human race. Warnings have been sounded against drunkenness in every generation since the disgraceful abuse of strong drink by Noah and Lot.

The Case Of Aaron's Sons

Nadab and Abihu, the sons of Aaron, priests ministering at God's holy altar were devoured by fire from Jehovah as they offered strange and forbidden fire upon God's altar. From the warning that immediately follows we may properly infer that drunkenness is what led them into the error God judged so severely "And Jehovah spake unto Aaron saying, Drink no wine nor strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee, when ye go into the tent of meeting, that ye die not: it shall be a statute forever throughout your generations: and that ye may make a distinction between the holy and the common, and between the unclean and the clean." Modern life, too, calls for ability to "make distinctions" which may mean life or death to ourselves and others, distinctions between green lights and red lights, or between rational conduct and irrational moral and immoral. These distinctions require sobriety and the state must use severe measures with those who through drunkenness imperil others' lives, even as God uses severe measures in the exemplary punishment he meted out to Nadab and Abihu.

Official Example

That those in high position in the state, no less than those in high position in the church, should set the nation an example of sobriety, seems to be the teaching of the wise men in Proverbs 31:4, 5: "It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine; nor for princes to say, Where is strong drink? Lest they drink and forget the law, and pervert the justice due to any that is afflicted." Positions of responsibility in every field of endeavor demand the sobriety that comes from being "temperate in all things."

Prophetic Warnings

The Prophet Isaiah rebuked national intemperance of his day, saying, "Woe to the crown of pride of the drunkards of Ephraim, and to the fading flower of his glorious beauty, which is on the head of the fat valley of them that are overcome with wine!" . . . The priest and the prophet reel with strong drink, they are swallowed up of wine, they stagger with strong drink; they err in vision, they stumble in judgment. For all tables are full of vomit and filthiness!" The picture has changed little from age to age. Truly, as St. Paul says, "It is good not to drink wine, nor to do anything whereby thy brother stumbleth."

PULASKI

BIRTHDAY PARTY

William Kerr was the guest of honor at a lovely family picnic dinner which was held at the park in New Wilmington Monday evening. The party was to celebrate Mr. Kerr's seventy-fifth birthday anniversary. A grandson, Raymond Urey, of Warren, O., also shared honors, it being his twenty-sixth birthday. A fine dinner was enjoyed at an attractively decorated table. Covers were laid for 25. Two beautiful birthday cakes graced the table. One was baked by Mrs. J. R. Meek and was decorated with 75 red candles. Mrs. Raymond Urey baked the other one on which was placed 26 yellow candles. Many lovely gifts were presented to the honored guests by a grandson, Arthur M. Meek, in behalf of those present. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meek and son Ronald, of New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Urey, Warren, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kuhn and danghter Hazel, of New Bedford.

PULASKI NOTES

Miss Martha Louise Bilger is the guest of relatives in Youngstown.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hoskins, of Farrell, were recent guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Uriah Hoskins.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCollough, of Monaca, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Holler and sons Edward, Jr., Bobby and Donald, of Rochester, Pa., were guests Tuesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCallister.

There will be no services held in the Presbyterian church for two Sundays owing to the pastor, Rev. Luther MacDonald, being away on his vacation. Services will be held as usual in the Methodist church Sunday.

Teachers who have been re-elected to the following schools are: Pulaski—Room 1, Miss Marguerite Hoagland; Room 2, R. D. Wadding; Room 5, Miss Helen Turner. Cotton—Miss Alice Godwin. Fulkman—John Everett Wallace.

Mrs. L. L. Rodgers and daughter, Miss Helen Rodgers, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Shields and daughter Shirley Claire, of New Castle, motored to Butler recently to attend church in the Second U. P. church, where the services were in charge of Rev. Walter S. Kelley, of Luxon, Egypt, a missionary who has returned to this country for a year's study in Hartford, Conn. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kelley were classmates of Mrs. Shields and Miss Rodgers at Westminster College.

The regular meeting of the Women's Benefit Association was held in the I. O. O. F. hall Tuesday evening. A business meeting over which the president, Mrs. J. F. Myers, presided, was held after which a social evening was enjoyed. A very delicious lunch was served by Mrs. C. C. Boyd and Mrs. Paul McClennahan, assisted by Mrs. Chas. Mitcheltree and Mrs. Lloyd Mitcheltree. Social committee for September are Mrs. Ralph Ayers and Mrs. William Cover.

British Marine Gives Blood To Wounded Envoy

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27—British marines, appalled over the shooting of their ambassador to China by a Japanese machine-gunner, came to the aid of Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen in Shanghai country hospital.

More than a score of British "leathernecks" volunteered their blood for a transfusion made necessary by the envoy's critical condition.

The projected donors were tested and one loyal Briton was chosen.

The school of experience has a uniform, too. It's overalls.

When Japs in China say they don't want war, it sounds funny to Americans; but our ancestors who took America didn't want trouble with the Indians, either.

Baldwin, now an earl, has adopted for his coat of arms the motto, "With God's help I jump the wall." No wonder he can take kings seriously.

Big Classes Get Ready For Schools

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—With the close of the school vacation, approximately 239,000 children in public schools and 100,000 children in parochial classes will resume their studies here in September.

The city's schools open September 9, with the exception of the senior high schools which open one day later. The parochial schools will begin their sessions on the first of the month.

Jealous Young Man Kills His "Girl Friend"

(International News Service)

RICHMOND, Ind., Aug. 27.—Jealous because his sweetheart, Martha Markey, 14, planned to have a date with a rival, Hollys Sagester, 16, shot and killed her Thursday.

Police said Sagester borrowed a rifle from a friend and shot the girl through the back of the head.

Sagester told police he had tried to commit suicide with the same gun, but that it had jammed.

Slayer Of Three Girls Must Die Jurors Declare

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—Almost two months to the day after he lured three little Inglewood children to a lonely ravine and there murdered and ravished them, Albert Dyer, sombre school crossing guard, was found guilty Thursday by an exhausted jury in superior court here.

He must hang, probably the last in California to die by the noose, as a law of execution by gas becomes effective this fall.

The last juror who had fought a bitter fight for life imprisonment, agreed to the death penalty.

Farmers Will Draft Measure For Legislators

Nationwide Series Of Hearings Will Be Held And Viewpoints Expressed

FARMERS START TELLING SOLONS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—After listening for years to politicians telling him how to run his farm, the farmer at last is going to get a chance to tell congress how to legislate for agriculture.

Subcommittees of the senate agriculture committee today completed plans for a nation-wide series of hearings, at which farmers will be asked their views on legislation to insure farm prosperity. The subcommittees want to know just how far the farmer will go in cooperating with the government on crop control regulations.

The hearing will be conducted by two special subcommittees, which plan to get back to Washington in time to draft a crop control bill for presentation, if necessary, to a special session of congress in November. If no special session is called, the legislators will be ready with a bill when congress reconvenes in regular session next January.

Subcommittees Named

One subcommittee, including Senators Smith (D) of South Carolina, chairman, Ellender (D) of Louisiana, Thomas (D) of Louisiana, and Bankhead (D) of Alabama, will tour southern states, getting the farmer's views on cotton, tobacco and river legislation. Their hearings will be held in Winston-Salem, N. C., October 18; Columbia, S. C., October 19; Atlanta, October 20; Montgomery, Ala., October 21; New Orleans, October 22; Houston, October 23; and Dallas, October 26.

A second sub-committee, including Senators McGill (D) of Kansas, chairman, Pope (D) of Idaho, and Frizier (R) of North Dakota, will visit the west to hear farmers on wheat and corn control. Their hearings will be held in Spokane, Sept. 30 to Oct. 2; Boise City, Idaho, Oct. 4 to 6; Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 12-13; St. Paul, Oct. 15-16; Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 18-19-20; Topeka, Oct. 22-23, and Dodge City, Oct. 25-26.

The two sub-committees will unite for hearings in Oklahoma City on Oct. 27, going to Memphis Oct. 28 and to Springfield, Ill., on Oct. 29-30.

Begin Drafting

Senator McGill predicted the two subcommittees would be ready by November 1 to begin drafting a new crop control bill. The basis will be the measure he and Senator Pope sponsored in the last session. This bill would authorize execution of federal adjustment contracts with farmers or guaranteeing them a price for their commodity equal to its buying power for the average years, 1909 to 1914.

"It's the first time committees of congress have gone to the people to find out the problems of agriculture at first hand, said McGill. "We will hear farmers, actively engaged in growing the nation's major crops. We will find out just how far the farmer will cooperate with the government in efforts to give him parity income."

FLORIDA SETS UP NEW RULES FOR TOURISTS

(International News Service)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — A new Florida will be offered to the winter tourists when they begin their annual pilgrimage next season.

There'll be some "cussin" but there'll be some praise too for the state solons who enacted many laws that will make the change.

The state solons said slot machines had taken some $60,000,000 to $70,000,000 annually from tourists. Then the solons, who in 1935 legalized them, banned them.

Cattle roaming state highways has always been a nuisance, or so the solons were told. But the solons, in effect, said no, so the cattle will still enjoy themselves.

Some of the solons suggested that the pennies and nickels of tourists might swell the coffers of the state if taxes were placed on such items as soft drinks, sports, cigarettes and other "luxury" taxes. There was also talk of a sales tax.

But the solons debated passage of these so-called "nuisance" taxes and finally said no.

The wealthy winter tourists also were considered when the subject of having the constitution changed to permit passage of an income tax law came up. And again the solons said no.

The solons also said no on reducing from 90 to 42 days the residence requirement for divorce actions.

Fable: Once there was a handsome high school boy and none of his teachers were in love with him.

Father Held as "Kidnaper"

Harry L. Anderson, 31 (inset), was ordered extradited from Washington, D. C., to California on charges of abducting his own daughter, Doris, two and a half years old. Authorities located the child in the capital city after Anderson's divorced wife (shown above with the child) reported Doris missing from San Luis Obispo, Cal., where she is a teacher. (Central Press)

City Prepares High Honors For Napoleon

City Which Once Barred Napoleon Now Prepares Tribute To Memory

(International News Service)

ANTIBES, France—When Napoleon Bonaparte came back from Elba and exile on March 1, 1815, Antibes was the one city on this part of the Riviera which refused to receive him.

The Little Corporal was not amused by this lack of hospitality. When he swept on to his brief new period of power many of the leading citizens of Antibes grew concerned and alarmed about the future state of their health.

Today, ironically, Antibes is preparing a great tribute to the memory of Napoleon.

For the first time, all of the famous documents, letters, literature and museum pieces relating to Napoleon and his era are to be grouped in one place. The exhibit is being arranged in the Chateu Grimaldi, which occupies the highest point in this ancient walled city of stone.

Museums Co-Operating

Museums of Paris, Lyon, Marseilles, Versailles, and other French cities are co-operating with M. Dos de la Souchers, conservator of the Antibes museum, to make the exhibit possible.

Guns and swords of his troops and sidearms and uniforms of the Emperor and his officers fill the corridors of the chateau. Documents and letters written by Napoleon, and maps he used at his greatest battles are being put on display.

Thousands of pictures and sketches of the era are being exhibited. Among the more interesting art exhibits are the famous "violet" pictures. When he went into exile Napoleon promised his trusted followers: 'I'll return in violet time."

During the ensuing months, when it was scarcely safe to mention Napoleon's name, his friends effected violet perfumes, violet boutonniers and so forth. Violets became a prime subject of a large school of artists. Somewhere in all of these pictures the profile of Napoleon was to be found.

Kentucky Youth Is Transport Pilot At Twenty

(International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—A transport pilot at 20.

That is the accomplishment of Frank H. Dreher, Louisville's youngest transport pilot, who recently realized an 8-year-old dream when he received word from Washington that he had passed written examinations and flight tests and could take the air with aviation's most cherished wings.

Dreher, who has been out of high school but two years, made Bowman Field his second home when he was 12 years old, and gradually worked his way from flight ticket-seller to the choice cockpit seat he now holds.

Eager Student.

Ten months ago "Frankie", as he is known at the airfield, passed preliminary examinations in mechanics. Then he tackled navigation and meteorology problems and mastered all the knowledge required for his final exams.

Dreher is not through studying, though. In fact to hear him tell it he is just beginning. He said:

"But I still have a lot to learn and I'm going to keep on learning."

And he adds that he will take the sky over the roadways any day, because "up there are plenty of traffic signs—clouds, wind, stars. . . ."

Kentucky Convicts Build Own Prison

Enjoy The Outside Work And According To Warden Are Doing Good Job

(International News Service)

LAGRANGE, Ky.—The unusual adventure of building their own prison is the lot of 2,200 Kentucky convicts. And, as peculiar as it may seem they are enjoying it and getting healthier because of the diversion and outside exercise, according to Warden James W. Hammond.

The new reformatory is being built on top of an Oldham county hill, near here, and when finished will replace Kentucky's ancient state reformatory at Frankfort, which was housing twice as many men and women as it was built to hold, and was wrecked by the January-February flood waters of the Kentucky river.

When the high water forced the state to evacuate the reformatory inmates they were housed in the armory at Lexington, Ky., in scattered jails throughout the state, and later in a stockade near the state capital.

"Tent And Board" City

Soon, Gov. A. B. Chandler redoubled an appeal to the federal government for funds with which to build a new reformatory and enlarge the prison at Eddyville. When the funds were made available Warden Hammond took 2,200 of the reformatory prisoners to Oldham county and set up a "tent and board" city. The prisoners themselves built their own mess hall, set up their own barbershops, commissaries and a hospital, set out their own gardens and pitched in to build themselves a new home.

Included in the work is the construction of a dam to supply the reformatory with water. Four hundred of the convicts are engaged in this work.

Discipline at the camp of course is strict with 14 guardhouses manned at all times by armed marksmen, but Warden Hammond said the convicts fought less, were healthier, and getting more enjoyment from their plight than they ever did behind the drab walls of the reformatory where they mostly killed monotonous time waiting freedom or death.

Accident Victim Will Be Buried In New Soldier Plot

Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343 To Conduct Military Funeral Saturday

Arrangements have been completed for the burial of J. Roger Williams of Shreveport, La. victim of the Harlansburg crossing crash Monday morning, Coroner Orville Potter announced today.

Mr. Williams, who was a World War Veteran, will be buried at Valor Ridge, the new soldiers burial plot in the Castle View Burial Park, on the New Wilmington road.

Mrs. Williams, his widow, told local authorities by telegram that she was without funds to bear the cost of transporting the body back to Shreveport, and to bury him, so arrangements were made to bury him here.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Gibson, of 105 Curtis street, Wilkinsburg, who with their two children were occupants of the automobile which was in the collision with Williams' car, are now showing improvement at the Jameson Memorial hospital, where they have been undergoing treatment.

Military rites will be given the remains of Mr Williams, Commander David Tobin of the Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion stated today that the post members would be in charge of the military rites and he requests all members of the post to be at the Legion Home on North Jefferson St. at one o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Brooklyn Slayer Dies In Chair

(International News Service)

OSSINING, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Paralyzed by fear into silence during his last hours, Louis Apicello, 40, Brooklyn bartender, went to his death in the electric chair of Sing Sing prison last night. He made a brief prayer at the door of the execution chamber, then sat down in the chair without looking at witnesses.

Apicello killed Albert Haglung in Brooklyn last December because Haglung belittled his ability to mix drinks.

Sets Date For Trial Of Woman

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 27.—Judge Charles S. Bell today set October 11 as the date for the trial of Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn on charges that she murdered two elderly German acquaintances by administering poison to them.

Pittsburgh Ball Squad Coming To Camp J. Phillips

Local Scout Camp Will Be Training Ground For Football Squad Next Week

Members of the Aspinwall high school football squad, of Pittsburgh, Pa., will arrive at the local Boy Scout camp, John M. Phillips, on Sunday to spend a week in the splendors of nature at the camp.

According to the coach, Arthur McComb, a group of 45 will be at the camp, and routine pre-season training will be given the squad during their week at the camp.

Both the Boy Scout and Girl Scout camping season has now closed and the camp season completed as far as local activities are concerned.

Youngster Held In Girl's Death

(International News Service)

RICHMOND, Ind., Aug. 27.—Sitting sullenly in his cell after dictating a confession, Hollys Sagester, 16-year-old schoolboy, was being held for the grand jury today for the "puppy love" slaying of his sweetheart, Martha Markey, 15.

The grand jury is scheduled to convene on September 15.

Three Thousand Japanese Killed In Heavy Fighting

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27. — Three thousand Japanese soldiers were killed and wounded in a fierce, 30-hour battle in which Japanese forces were driven from Lotietseng township, southwest of Lui-Ho, an official Chinese communique claimed today.

The statement said the walled town of Katingyuen was set aflame by gunfire and reduced to "another Pompeii."

Japanese authorities, contradicting the Chinese claims, announced Japanese forces had captured Lotietseng.

Thugs Beat Up Three In Office

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—James Melton, who yesterday wanted to become a labor organizer, was thinking seriously today of transferring his talents to another and less hazardous field.

While Melton was applying for a job at the offices of the Building Service Employes Industrial Federation of America, eight thugs rushed in and administered a severe pummeling to Melton and two office employes. They also wrecked the office furniture.

Train Guns On Saragossa Today

(International News Service)

MADRID, Aug. 27.—Government troops trained their heavy guns on the insurgent stronghold of Saragossa today as the government offensive on the Aragon front continued.

Government authorities claimed the advance of their troops in this sector was continuing and that loyalists captured the town of Villa Mayor de Gallego, five miles west of Saragossa.

The heavy fortifications which the insurgents have established at Saragossa were under loyalist fire, it was claimed.

Reincarnation Believer Does Not Leave Will

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—Eighty-year-old Arthur M. Hands believed in reincarnation, so he failed to leave a will disposing of $50,000, because he wanted the money handy when he returned to earth.

Such was the contention of rebuttal witnesses today in the hearing of a contested action in which Mrs. Marie Mozee claims the estate. She offers a brief typewritten will signed with an "X" naming her as beneficiary.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

LaFollette May Be Choice

Senator Holt Suggests Wisconsin Senator In Attacking New Deal

CLASSED AS REPUBLICANS

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Senator Rush D. Holt of West Virginia undoubtedly intended to be sarcastic and disagreeable, not complimentary, when, the day congress adjourned, he suggested Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin as a possible Democratic nominee to succeed President Roosevelt.

Nevertheless, not a few politicians wonder whether the Wisconsin solon may not have some such idea in the back of his own head, and if, perhaps, the president himself may not be considering it.

To be sure, the La Follettes are not Democrats. Their past has been nominally Republican; now they describe themselves as Progressives. However, the elder La Follette generally was "off the Republican reservation", as his sons were, too, while they continued to wear the Republican label. And, as Progressives, they have been among the most enthusiastic of Roosevelt supporters.

Besides, almost anyone can qualify, politically, for almost anything, these times.

* * *

INVITED BY ROOSEVELT

It will be recalled that, rather recently, President Roosevelt took the La Follette brothers (Senator "Bob" and Governor "Phil") on one of his week-end cruises down the Potomac and Chesapeake bay.

Then there was an interval of a few days, after which Senator Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania delivered his radio broadcast, virtually reading all anti-New Deal Democrats out of the president's party. He included Senator Holt, by name, among them.

The next day (the day congress adjourned) the senators referred to by Guffey took the skin off the Pennsylvanian, in speeches in the upper congresional chamber. Holt was one of them.

LA FOLLETTE AS A DEFENDER

Senator La Follette tried, unsuccessfully, to hush up these tirades. He argued that the chamber's rules prohibited senators from saying such awful things about a fellow senator. However, the senators went ahead and said them—rules, if any, to the contrary notwithstanding.

Senator Holt was particularly resentful of Senator La Follette's attempted interference.

He assumed, in the course of his remarks, that Guffey was speaking for the administration; that La Follette sought to defend the Pennsylvanian not so much because he cared for the latter as because he sought to squelch criticism of an administration spokesman, whoever he might be.

* * *

HOLT'S INFERENCE

Incidentally, Senator Holt raked up that La Follette cruise with the president down the Potomac.

His implication was that the purpose of the cruise was to solidify the La Follette influence with the New Deal by putting the presidential bee into the La Follette bonnet; that it had done so; that, with a little more encouragement the bee would begin to do some stinging.

Well, politicians are wondering whether the bee hasn't shot his sting already.

* * *

WHICH LA FOLLETTE?

If so which La Follette is stung worse?

A majortiy of commentators believe that "young Bob" is the worse victim partly because he is older than "young Phil"; partly because he is a senator, and therefore has more of a national reputation. Not that Phil hasn't a reputation also, but, on an average, a senator is more widely known than a governor.

On the opposite hand, Phil, more local than his brother, generally is described, by those who know them both, as having more of the old La Follette fire than Bob has.

Bob is not to be sneezed at. He is an exceptionally able senator. Yet there are those who assert that Phil is more distinctly "his father's son" than Robert, Jr.

It is an odd rivalry between brothers.

WHERE DOES WHEELER STAND?

There is another peculiar thing: Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana was so much in sympathy with the elder Senator Robert M. La Follette that he ran with the latter, as a Progressive vise presidential candidate in 1924.

Today he is leader of the opposition to the New Deal, to which the second Senator La Follette so strongly adheres.

Yet both still are liberals—near-radicals.

There no longer is any sense in political alignments.

MARRIAGE BUSINESS IS GETTING BETTER

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 27.—Prospects for successful marriage are better here this year than they were last. At least, records would indicate such to be the case.

There were 176 marriages in July, a gain of 10 per cent over the same month last year. Divorces showed a drop from 157 in July, 1936 to 127 last month.

Hand in hand with these indications, the furniture business has been showing the largest gain in retail trade. Merchants expect a 10 to 15 per cent increase this fall.

Extent Of Mellon Fortune May Never Be Entirely Known

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—The actual extent of Andrew W. Mellon's wealth will probably never be known. It was variously estimated at from $200,000,000 to $2,000,000,000.

Mellon's holdings were distributed over a broader base than were those of John D. Rockefeller or Henry Ford. When Mellon was appointed secretary of the treasury he was a director in 63 corporations.

A federal income tax suit disclosed that his return for 1931 showed a gross income of $10,482,660. The government contended the gross should have been $13,482,660. If this sum represented a 6 per cent return in investment the principal would total $224,711,000.

Estimated $2,000,000,000

Harvey O'Connor, in his book "Mellon's Millions," estimated the Mellon family fortune at $2,000,000,000. He asserted the Mellons were "associated in corporations whose assets and resources were nearly $10,500,000,000."

The former treasury secretary, in one of the few denials ever issued, branded O'Connor's book as a "travesty of truth," and added:

"It attributes to me and other members of my family a fortune of such fantastic and imaginary proportions as to be senseless."

The 1921 directory of directors, listing corporations with which Mellon was identified before he took the treasury post, revealed the scope of the Mellon dynasty.

Corporations of which he was a director were engaged in—among others—these businesses and industries: Banking, aluminum, oil, coal, coke, steel, locomotives, water works, railroads, bridge building, railroad cars, by-product plants, street railways, light and power, glass, motor trucks, ship building, radiators, car wheels, carborundum, fire insurance, surety bonds, bolts and rivets.

After his treasury appointment Mellon resigned all directorships except those in four educational and charitable institutions.

Heavy Stock Owner

Gulf Oil, Aluminum, U. S. Steel, Pittsburgh Coal, Union Trust, Bethlehem Steel, Carborundum, Koppers, several coal companies, American Locomotive, Pullman, Pennsylvania Railroad, Westinghouse Air Brake and Westinghouse Electric, American Rolling Mills, Allis Chalmers, Niagara Hudson Power, and many others.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 27.—Nucleus for the Mellon fortune, variously estimated at from a quarter of a billion to two billion dollars, was 200 guineas ($1,000), carefully stitched in a belt worn by Mellon's grandmother on her arrival in America, it was revealed today.

The family, Andrew Mellon, grandfather of the former secretary of the treasury, Thomas, Andrew W. Mellon's father, and his grandmother, landed at Baltimore in 1818 after a trip from County Tyrone, Ulster Province, Ireland.

They settled on a farm in Franklin township, Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania. Young and old, the family labored long hours in the fields by day. By night they spun flax to make tow bags, which Thomas sold in town for 50 cents each.

In this modest setting, on a farm, were thus laid the beginnings of what was to grow into one of the world's greatest fortunes.

Arthur Cresce Returns From Navy Journey

Local Youth Was Musician In Band With Select Midshipmen In Cruise

Arthur Cresce returned to his home at 315 Division street to spend a 10-day leave of absence from the United States Navy. Cresce left on June 2 on a mid-shipman cruise of foreign ports.

This cruise was made up of young men from the navy who had the highest qualifications. Cresce was chosen as a member of the band for this cruise.

The cuise was made aboard the U. S. S. Arkansas, and they returned to Norfolk, Va., on August 13. While away the ship visited Kiel, Germany; the Maderi Islands; Tourquey, England and many other foreign ports and cities.

Cresce will return to the United States Naval Musicians school and will complete his two year music course in November of this year.

Andrew Mellon, Industrialist-Banker, One of the Richest Men in World

U. S. ambassador to England, 1932, with daughter Ailsa, left, and Sir John Simon.

Conferring with French leaders on Hoover debt holiday plan, 1931—left to right, the then Premier Pierre Laval, Mellon and French Economist Francois-Poncet.

Andrew William Mellon, Pittsburgh industrialist and banker who became one of the wealthiest men in the world, was born in Pittsburgh in 1855, the son of a judge. He was educated at Western university, now the University of Pittsburgh and was graduated in the class of 1873. He married Nora McMullen in 1900. There is one son, Paul. Mellon's interests became vast early in life, with the Mellon National bank of Pittsburgh as the nucleus of the family fortune. Control spread to coal, coke, iron, aluminum, power, oil and many other enterprises. Mellon became secretary of the treasury in the cabinet of President Harding, in 1921, and remained under both Presidents Coolidge and Hoover until named ambassador to Great Britain in 1932. He resigned from that post in 1933, when the Democrats gained power. In 1936 he gave a large part of his art collection, valued at many millions, to the U. S. government and at the same time provided funds for the erection of a national art gallery in Washington to house it. Many of the works of art were purchased by Mellon from the Soviet government.

SECOND RICHEST MAN IN COUNTRY CALLED BY DEATH

Washington last June where he had remained into the hot weather to direct the cherished dream of his life—his gift to the American people of a national art gallery, which is to house his magnificent collection of old masters, valued at $50,000,000.

His illness was a recurrence of a bronchial ailment from which he had suffered for two years. In July he went to the home of his daughter, who had been his hostess in London during his brief reign there as ambassador.

Confined to the house, except for brief walks to the village, he continued to devote himself to the progress of his museum. For the last weeks he remained in bed most of the time. Bruce said that for the past two weeks, his father-in-law, although confined to bed, had been "quite active."

Rallied For Time

Yesterday, the aged financier seemed in better spirits than at any time since his illness and hopes were raised for his recovery. He was said to be unusually spry.

But toward evening, his condition took a sudden turn for the worse—and from then on he sank rapidly. Shortly before death, he slipped into a coma from which he never regained consciousness.

Increasingly shy and retiring in recent years, Mellon's last public appearance was in Pittsburgh last May when he spoke a few words at the dedication of the new building of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research.

Secluded in his Pittsburgh headquarters, the billionaire financier who was a director in more than 200 corporations, had multiplied his fortune in a dozen different industrial pursuits and yet retained such a quiet simplicity about his life that he was scarcely known outside his own circle of friends and business associates.

Mellon dodged the spotlight so successfully that when he was suggested for the treasury post to President Harding in 1921, the latter said:

"Mellon? Mellon? I don't recognize the name."

Was Unostentatious

Ascetic by nature and unostentatious by choice, the man who held the purse strings of the nation for 11 years never owned a yacht, private car or country place. Except for his expensive indulgence in paintings, his life was far simpler than that of most people of comfortable means.

The man whose Midas' touch turned into a golden stream of dollars every enterprise he entered, found time to stand enraptured and gaze for hours at some work of art which caught his fancy.

Although he handled millions of his own money and of the nation's, Mellon was known often to be without pocket change. Recently he had to borrow 60 cents to pay for a taxicab ride to his Washington office.

It was Mellon's habit of indulging in occasional poker games at his Washington apartment that prompted one of his secretaries to say:

"He is the kind of a poker player who always has 'em when you call him and never has 'em when you don't."

The star of destiny of the man who was to become known as the "greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton," shone brightly from the very beginning. Born in Pittsburgh, March 24, 1855, the son of Judge Thomas Mellon, who founded the Mellon banking house, and the former Sarah Jane Negley, young Mellon entered his father's business as a partner before the completion of his college course.

Bank Expands

A fast-growing America soon found the influence and money of the Mellon Banking House behind its expanding industries.

Yet while directing where the Mellons millions were to go, young Mellon remained in the background, adding to the aura of mystery that remained about him until his last days.

By laborious planning, careful study and sound investment, Mellon soon ranked among the nation's leading financiers.

In 1900 Mellon married Nora McMullen, granddaughter of Peter Guinnness, a Dublin brewer, but they were divorced twelve years later. His two children are his son, Paul, and daughter, now Mrs. Bruce.

Always a good judge of character, Mellon backed two young men who came to him with a process for making aluminum. This was the beginning of one of Mellon's greatest properties, the Aluminum Company of America, which led to his being called the "Aluminum King of America."

Mellon's bridge-building interests also developed when two young men were hired to run an acquired old bridge-building plant.

Mellon's greatest interests, aside from aluminum, bridge-building and lumber, were the Gulf Oil Company, the American Locomotive Company, the Standard Steel Car Company, the Worthington Pump Company, the Crucible Steel Company, the Pittsburgh Coal Company, and several power light, water and traction companies.

Many Degrees

While Mellon was secretary of the treasury from March 4, 1921 to February 2, 1932, many colleges conferred honorary degrees upon him, among them being Pittsburgh, Columbia, Princeton, Harvard, Dartmouth, Rutgers and the Pennsylvania Military College.

When he left that post it was to accept the most important diplomatic post the country had to offer—ambassador to the Court of St. James in London. Mellon served one year and then returned to private life.

Throughout his private and public career, Mellon has been the object of repeated attacks, political and otherwise.

His greatest battle, however, came after his retirement from office when he was charged with wholesale evasion of taxes and was sued by the treasury for $3,089,261.

The case has dragged on for years but a decision is expected from the tax appeals board shortly.

It was not possible to obtain an official estimate from Mellon's associates as to the extent of the fortune left by him but his known holdings in a small group of industries are said to be far in excess of one billion dollars.

One of the industrialists's last gestures was to stiuplate that the entire art gallery in Washington should become the property of the people of the United States and that the art gallery should not bear his name.

KEEPS SNAKES IN CAR TO CHASE THIEVES AWAY

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del.—Anyone attempting to steal the car of Howard Weldin, Jr., of Brandywine Hundred, won't have any trouble opening the door of the car, but before stepping into it, he had better look around a bit, or he'll find himself keeping company with several black snakes.

Weldin abandoned theft insurance for snake insurance after seeing Hopi Indians training snakes in motion pictures two years ago.

Winter hibernation holds no problem for Weldin, he merely places a stuffed snake in the front seat and goes about his business as usual. Although Weldin has trained several hundred snakes from this vicinity, he has never been bitten.

James A. McGowan At New Castle Fair

Hitch-Hiking Veteran Ex-Burgess Of Prospect Here

One of the most interested of the New Castle Fair visitors today is James A. McGowan, the hitch-hiking ex-burgess of Prospect.

Mr. McGowan has been a farmer all his life, as have several generations of McGowans before him, and he is here to see what kind of livestock the fair has to display.

The trip from Prospect was made via the usual thumbing system. The squire is in the pink of health, and active as ever, in spite of the fact that on November 8 he will be 78 years old.

"I attribute my health to two things," he told a reporter. "First, being a Democrat, and second, keeping out of saloons."

"Are you still a Roosevelt booster?" the squire was asked.

"No ma'am! I'm just as much against him as I was for him five years ago."

Every year on his birthday Mr. McGowan throws a party at the Nixon hotel in Butler and this year is to be no exception. There will be a guest list of fifty friends, he says.

But the big day of his life will be on December 8 when he and his wife celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The couple have two daughters, Mrs. J. N. Richey and Mrs. B. L. Ramsey, and one son, Clinton.

Clinton operates the 60-acre farm in Prospect. The tract was originally 375 acres and was purchased in 1796 by the squire's grandfather for $60. Today, according to Mr. McGowan, you couldn't buy an acre for $300.

Will Exhibit Sound Apparatus For Week

Th Motion Picture Machine Projectionists Local No. 451 of New Castle, and Stage Hands Local No. 101 of New Castle, released word through their spokesmen today, that the organizations have been successful in arranging a free educational exhibit of motion picture and sound reproducing apparatus, in the direct effort to instruct and enlighten the citizentry-at-large as to the intricate processes involved in bringing entertainment and recreation to the people in film and screen form. Extensive plans have been laid since this is the program is the first of it's kind ever staged in this vicinity.

This extremely valuable and expensive equipment which consists of Strong and Simplex projectors and Western Electric Mirrophonic sound facilities, will be on display in the lobby and foyer of the Scottish Rite Cathedral throughout the week of August 30th. It will later be installed in the auditorium of this civic building.

Not only will the public be permitted to view this network of highly technical and sensitive machinery, which was purchased by the Cathedral Theatre management at a cost of $13,000, but it will be possible to learn in detail the various mechanical operations that design the reproduction of sound and motion in the movies.

A representative staff from the projectionist organization will be on hand to relate such information and knowledge that will undoubtedly prove extremely exciting to those attending.

As a novel augmentation to this display of motion picture modernization there will be presented a stirring contrast of time and ingenuity by a very early model of an Edison projection machine that claims the vintage of 1903.

The members of the Motion Picture Machine Projectionists Local No. 451, Stage Hands Local No. 101 of New Castle, wish to impress that there is much to be gained by visiting one night during the next week and a very hearty invitation is extended to everyone, young and old alike. There will be no admission charges whatsoever. A souvenir will be given to each person attending this exhibit.

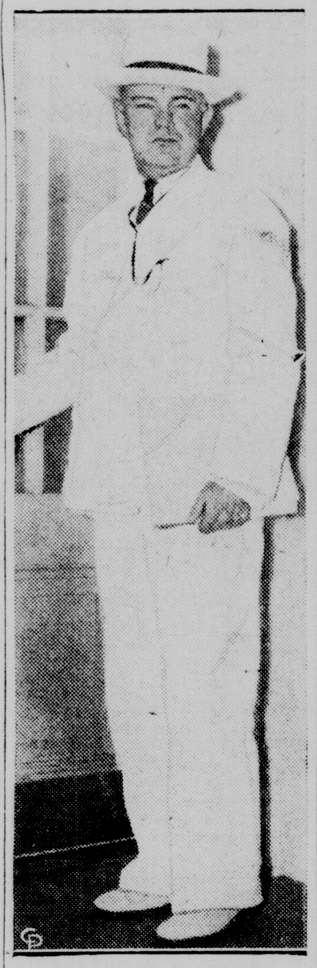
Mattern Will Abandon Hunt

(International News Service)

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 27.—Jimmy Mattern, noted American aviator who flew here from California to aid in search for Soviet Russia's six lost transpolar airmen, explained Thursday why he had withdrawn his $125,000 Lockheed-Electra plane from the seach.

Mattern said that his plane, equipped with landing wheels, was unsuitable for prolonged patrol flights over the Arctic ice.

Studies China War



SECRETARY WOODRING

Secretary of War Harry Woodring is seen entering the White House to confer with President Roosevelt on the Sino-Japanese crisis. While the president's chief concern was the safety of Americans in Shanghai, it was believed he discussed possible application of the neutrality act against Japan and China, but only as a last resort.

Post Graduate Enrollment Low At Senior High

Use Enrollment Figures At Senior High As Barometer Of Conditions

To date only 25 students of the senior high school have registered for Post Graduate work this coming semester. According to Principal Frank L Orth, this is the smallest number of post graduates to register for many years.

Principal Orth believes that this is a good barometer of good times. When jobs are plentiful, the post graduate enrollment is smaller, and vice versa.

Likewise the total school enrollment for the coming semester will be smaller than in previous years. Last semester there were over 2000 students in the school, it is believed that the number this year will be far below that figure.

No less than 100 students have registered for post graduate work for many years, and it has been 10 years or more since the number has been as small as the one this year.

Bob Ingersoll At Calvary Tabernacle

Well Known Evangelist Is In City For Two Weeks' Engagement

Evangelist Bob Ingersoll, formerly superintendent of the Pacific Garden Mission in Chicago, where both Billy Sunday and Mel Trotter became Christians years ago, is the present guest speaker in a two weeks' engagement at Calvary Tabernacle in East New Castle.

Present indications point to a most interesting and helpful series under the able leadership of this famous preacher who has had 26 years of experience as a pastor, mission superintendent and evangelist.

Last evening Mr. Ingersoll chose as his subject, "Just A Stone," and in the message emphasized the importance of anchoring one's faith in God whatever the circumstances. Tonight's subject will be "The Four-Fold Victory."

Present weather conditions should not hinder the services as the heavy canvas sidewalls of the pavilion have been lowered, making it as warm and comfortable as any home.

Mr. Ingersoll is to preach three times on Sunday, 11 a. m., 2:30 and 7:30 p. m.

Seven Contracts Awarded By State For Highway Work

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—Seven highway construction contracts were awarded Thursday by Warren Van Dyke, secretary of highways.

Projects and successful bidders included:

The Holmes Construction company, Wooster, O., $13,996.16 for the replacement of a bridge on rural route 25054 in Wayne township, on the road from Corry to Clymer, Erie county.

If the war goes on, America will develop a kindly sympathy for Japan. China can't give us any fat contracts.

Scotland School Reunion Success

Largest Crowd Attends 8th Annual Gathering On Thursday Evening

JOHN D. PATTISON ELECTED PRESIDENT

Thursday evening, in the Union high school building, Scotland Lane the eighth annual Scotland school reunion took place and it was the largest of any of its predecessors.

Dinner was served at 6:30 p .m. by Mrs. Margaret Pattison Elmore and her committee. An outline of the program as presented during the evening follows:

Prayer—M. W. McClelland

Pep singing—led by M. Pearl Atkinson, Mrs. Helen Hart Miller at the piano.

Songs—"We're Glad to See You Here" and "Auld Lang Syne."

Annual meting with the president Mrs. Mary Allen Jenkins presiding. A very beautiful memorial program in memory of the departed schoolmates, Blaine Norris and Joe Young was conducted. As the names were read a white lily was placed in a vase.

President, John D. Pattison; vice president Harry Hasely; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Pearl McClelland, and director for one year, M. W. Mc Clelland.

Talks by former teachers were most interesting. C. Fullerton, who taught 50 years ago in the little red school building, told some amusing stories of his experiences.

Out-of-town guests were introduced. These included Mr. and Mrs. J. A McClelland and daughter, Charlotte Ann, of Beaver Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Roy McClelland, daughter, Peggy and sons, Bob and Dan, of Warren, O. The meeting was brought to a close by singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." And they will meet again at the same place on the last Thursday in August 1938.

Man Confesses Murder Charge

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 27.—Cleon Bell, 25, held in prison here for the theft of an automobile, admitted today, according to police, he was wanted in Mangun, Okla., on a murder charge. He waived extradition.

Bell's fingerprints, sent to Washington, tripped him after prison officials overheard his plans to break jail, police said.

Bell is wanted for the slaying of Horace Wasley, life-long friend, after a drinking bout. Bell, the father of four-year-old twins, can't recall the fight, police said, and said friends told him next day to leave because he was to be arrested for murder.

Another Gusher Reported Today Near Waynesburg

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 27.—"black gold" spurted from Western Pennsylvania grounds today for the second time within a week.

The second "hit" was reported on the Mattie Scott farm near here on a lease owned by J. P. Orndorfer It's flow, at present, was estimated at 100 barrels an hour.

The first strike was made late Tuesday afternoon in the famed Titusville Oil field, scene of Pennsylvania's first oil boom a half-century ago.

The gusher in Waynesburg was the first free-flowing production in this locality in many years. The oil in this area is the premium Pennsylvania grade which sells for slightly more than $2 a barrel.

Long Island Canines Call On Each On Alternate Afternoons, McIntyre Finds

POLICE HEAD IS MUCH HATED

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Thoughts while strolling: For one of Alva Johnston's searching profiles: Herb Swope. No athletes so modest as the tennis stars. Dick Berlin's car R. B. 6. Those spic and span cadets down from West Point. Whatever became of Louis Calhern?

O. O. McIntyre

Rhyme: Mervyn LeRoy seems just a little boy. Overheard: "Look at that pup, one word from me and he does as he pleases." Don Amechi sounds like stepping on a squeak ball. Teeth wide apart celebrities: Henry L. Doherty and Harold Ross. Burns Mantle suggests the gentle curate more than critic.

Memory: Unhooking the hammock during a sudden shower. In a two way hat, Joe Bryan III would make a dandy Sherlock Holmes. And Max Gordon standing hatless before the corner cigar store would look like the proprietor. Col. Joe Hartfield doesn't walk, he bounds. And Gene Buck skims.

But add up all the walks and you have nothing to compare to the rowdy powdy swagger of Hope Williams. Ambition of every rookie cop: To sing like Nick Kenny's discovery, Phil Regan. Never pass luchow's without thinking of James Gibbons Hunneker. And H. L. Mencken.

Joe Louis could do all right with a cafe in Harlem when he hangs up his gloves. If there's such a thing as a trencherwoman, Lois Long is one. The flip talkers' overworked catch line: "Don't let it throw you!" But best of all was their: "Is everything under control?"

Adela Rogers St. Johns has a German Shepherd dog that is carrying on an old school sort of companionship with a neighbor's Chesapeake setter at her estate at Great Neck, L. I. Every other day they exchange formal afternoon calls, sitting about awhile politely, perhaps playing a bit and then stretching out for naps. On especially hot days they trot down to the Sound together for a swim. Their visits are always alternate—not once has one gone to visit the other twice in succession. Formality, no end.

Few New York police commissioners have been so thoroughly hated by the underworld as the present incumbent, Edward Valentine. And the hatred is mutual. The commissioner is unable to conceal his scorn and contempt for old offenders or those who try to evade the law by hiring high-priced lawyers. When such crooks are brought before him, he shows them no courtesy whatever, and if they show any inclination to talk back he can scarcely restrain himself from hopping up from his desk and swinging a few from the ankle.

As a police reporter for a number of years, I never saw a really courageous crook. One who, caught, would stand up bravely as in the movies and sneer "So what?" The moment they realize the breaks are against them they wilt and snivel. Sometimes under the soporific of drink or drugs when first brought in they show a bravado, but once the stimulants wear off they cringe. I have seen the toughest cry like babies when cuffed a bit. They will gang up and shoot a cop or fire from ambush, but never slug toe to toe. One veteran police chief told me that in his experience he had never seen a hardened criminal not yellow at the core. In nothing do they play fair, always they seek advantage.

"I'm forever wondering how Percy Crosby keeps "Skippy" skeedaddling along in such top form through interminable strips, always provoking a smile, perhaps a slight throat twitch or inspiring some agreeable jet of philosophic flow. On paper they seem so easy and casual. But such ideas do not pop into mind. They are products of stewing in one's own juice, a travail of torment with the dead-line only a few hours away.

My admiration for Crosby was enhanced today because it has been one for me of utter mental sterility. I have straightened one of Peter Arno's framed originals a dozen times, counted the window panes in the side of Bill Corum's hotel across the roof top, got myself squirted up with red ink cleaning two fountain pens and looked up such words as syzygy and silicic in the dictionary. Those days are not frequent, but they come often enough to hurl a typewriter out the window and follow it with a despairing shriek.

Comparative democracy: Canadian railways sue vehicle owners who get in the way of its trains; American railways pay the trespasser for getting hit.

Correct this sentence: "I'd like to ask you to go out with me," said the youth, "but I must meet your parents first."

St. Paul's Baptist Having Anniversary

Elaborate Programs Planned For Sunday; Church 15 Years Old

The congregation of St. Paul's Baptist church, West North street, will celebrate its fifteenth anniversary with elaborate and impressive services on Sunday.

The day will begin with Rev. L. E. Clark, of Wampum, leading the sunrise prayer service at 5 o'clock. Archie Young, of Youngstown, O., will speak to the Sunday school at its regular session. There will be a memorial service in the morning worship in memory of the deceased founders of the church. The surviving charter members will sit in a group and will also receive recognition for meritorious service rendered. There will be baptism at this service.

Rev. S. N. DeLaney, assistant secretary of the Eastern Ohio Association and pastor of the First Baptist church of Warren, O., will preach the anniversary sermon. His choir and congregation will also be present.

At 6 p. m., there will be a special program at the B. Y. P. U. meeting.

A sermon will be given at 7:30 by the pastor, Rev. M. Cecil Mills, marking the close of the celebration. Former members of the church have been invited to participate in the day. Members will bring baskets.

GARDNER

DeWayne Gibson, of Gardner and Miss Dorothy Moore, of Castlewood went to West Middlesex on Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Scott Mayrs, grandparents of DeWayne.

Mrs. Clifford Robison, of Gardner had her sister Mrs. Jas. Wimer, who lives near Portersville, as a guest for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walker, of Gardner, entertained the latter's sister, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Russell King, of New Castle on Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Wilkison of the Ellwood road had a visit on Monday from Mrs. Ambrose Fombelle of Wooster, O. and Mrs. Charles Fombelle and Mrs. Eva Patterson of New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. William Donley of Gardner had a visit on Tuesday from their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spaniel, of Ellwood City. Miss Doris Critchlow, of Moravia Stop, is spending a week at the Donley home.

The reunion of the Kelley family was held last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaffer at Gardner. Relatives to the number of 37 came in from Beaver Falls, Detroit, Poland, O. and New Castle. This home is in an ideal place for a picnic dinner and a long table was set at the edge of the woods and two delicious meals were served to the guests. The host and hostess made every one feel at home and good fellowship prevailed. Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer left on Tuesday morning with the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Platt, of Detroit, at whose home the folks from Gardner will spend the week.

Dr. Webber and Mrs. Webber of New Castle, spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Johnston, of Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Weir, of the old Pittsburgh road entertained their niece Miss Eleanor Hardy, of Wampum for a week. The Weir barn was burned by lighting last month and a terrific bolt struck the house and destroyed the radio.

Mr. and Mrs. Longacre of Gardner had a visit from their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Davis, Nellie, Junior and Tommy, who arrived last Friday and left on Wednesday for their home in Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Marshall, of Gardner gave a lovely birthday party in honor of eight year old Dorothy Lowery, a niece from Philadelphia. Pretty garden flowers decorated the rooms and colored balloons hung from the ceilings. Lively games were played and some prizes were given. Pink and white was the color scheme and this was carried out in the menu too, and the table around which the guests were seated looked very attractive with a beautiful big birthday cake in the center which was artistically decorated. Mrs. Marshall had as her aides Miss Frances Nelson, of Ellwood City. Miss Dorothy Mathiott, of Portsmouth, O., and Mrs. F. D. Lowery, of Shenango Stop, mother of Mrs. Marshall. The list is too long to gave all the names of those present but all had a delightful time and the honor guest Dorothy Lowery received many lovely gifts. Marie Lowery a sister of Dorothy is visiting here too.

Mrs. Marshall went last Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Lowery to Pymatuning Dam to visit her uncle, Dr. Lewis Lowery, and her cousin, Rev. Roy Lowery and family.

Americanism: Employing more people than ever before in peacetime; spending more for the unemployed than the entire cost of government before the war.

Boiler Insurance Optional According To Labor Secretary

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 27—School officials in all parts of the state are complaining to the Department of Labor and Industry about the tactics employed by high pressure boiler insurance solicitors.

The complaints have come to the department from secretaries of school boards and from superintendents of school districts that the insurance salesmen are trying to convince them that passage of amendments to the state boiler law makes it compulsory for all schools to carry boiler insurance.

"I want to condemn vigorously such sharp practices," said Ralph M. Bashore, secretary of the department, when apprised of the many complaints from the school officials.

"Any boiler insurance solicitor, who, in an effort to sell insurance, states or even infers that the state boiler law was amended during the recent session of the legislature so as to require the mandatory insuring of boilers, is telling a deliberate falsehood.

"It is entirely optional to the owner of any boiler, whether it be an individual or a school board, or any other company or concern in this state, and not compulsory to carry boiler insurance.

"The boiler laws of this state provides that the department may accept the reports of an inspector commissioned by the state and who is employed by an authorized insurance company. This however was provided for in the original law which has been on the statute books several years.

"The boiler law of 1929 was amended by the legislature of 1937 and these new amendments become effective within the next week, or September 1.

"It extends the jurisdiction of the department to include all high pressure boilers located within the commonwealth except those under federal inspection and control.

"It also placed supervision of low pressure boilers housed in theatres, motion picture theatres, schools, colleges, and hospitals under the jurisdiction of the department. The wisdom of this amendment can readily be realized, when we consider the fact that previously boilers of this type were operated with little or no supervision.

"The legislature, with a view toward establishing uniform regulations and inspections of boilers, in all parts of the state, amended the law to include Philadelphia, Scranton and Erie. Thus boilers located in these large cities will on and after September 1, come under direct supervision of the state as are all other boilers under the present law."

The new law will also bring under control of the department of labor and industry boilers used in the operation of oil wells and all coal mine boilers.

Unfired pressure vessels, such as acetylene tanks, also come under supervision of the state under the new law. On and after the effective date all unfired pressure vessels destined for use within the state must be built in accordance with regulations of the department.

British Protest To General Franco

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 27—The British government protested sharply Thursday to Spanish rebel generalissimo Francisco Franco against continued bombing of British ships in the Mediterranean by insurgent warplanes.

The protest warned that if there was any further repitition of the bombings Britain would reserve the right to "take such action as the occasion may demand."

CONSTITUTION WEEK TO BE BIG EVENT

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—Plans for the biggest celebration of the signing of the constitution this country has ever seen are virtually complete, according to Mayor S. Davis Wilson.

City and state committees have joined to make constitution week, Sept. 10 to 18, the big event of the 150th constitutional celebration which has been going on all summer.

Friday the 17th, anniversary of the actual signing, will be the climax of the celebration.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

1201 North Mercer Street.

To the Editor of the
New Castle News:

Nine years ago a dramatic scene was enacted in Paris which was destined to affect the whole of modern society. Fifteen nations responding to the proposals of French Foreign Minister Briand and Secretary of State Kellogg united in a covenant in which they renounced war as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another and agreed that the settlement of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature among them should never be sought except by pacific means. Thus was the Pact conceived helping to codify international law. Hereafter war is declared illegal. The maker of war becomes a lawbreaker. The principle of the Pact of Paris represents one of the noblest concepts of all ages.

With strained relations in Asia and in parts of Europe, the nations might well call to mind their commitments under this treaty. Pledges are merely as sincere as their makers. Pacts can only be effectuated by governments with their citizenry behind them.

The World War brought the vogue of a new form of government—, dictatorship. Although the leaders of each of these new powers have declared themselves for peace, paradoxically enough, each has led his people to war and preparation for it. "It takes two to make an agreement; it takes only one to make a war," asserts Hamilton Fish Armstrong in his polemic against dictatorship called 'We or They'. Dictatorship makes for war.

Conversely, democracies have framed their foreign policies in accordance with the provisions of the covenant of the Paris Pact. In 1931 the United States strengthened her agreement with the so-called Hoover-Stimson Doctrine of non-recognition of territory gained in violation of the Briand-Kellogg Pact as it is sometimes called. As recently as July 16 Secretary Hull, acting in the spirit of the Pact, expressed this country's position regarding international problems. "There can be no serious hostilities anywhere in the world which will not one way or another affect interests or rights or obligations of this country. His deep concern merited the world-wide response he received from around the globe.

Speedy ratification of the Paris Pact was the result of intense education of public opinion. Press, pulpit, college and high school united in clarifying and crystalizing public thought. Its declaration places it upon the same high level of mortal discipline as truth, honesty and righteousness. Its study should be included in the curriculm of every high school that courageous leadership may be developed—to interpret it as the highest form of patriotism—, to keep one's country out of war. "The Paris Pact may easily be the dominating document of the Twentieth Century."

Sincerely yours,

MRS. WILLIAM L. COSEL.

Hint to employers who have defeated strikers: Germany wouldn't be a menace now if France hadn't rubbed it in.

Whose Cap Was It?

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—Local police had a police mystery of their own Thursday.

CENTRALIZATION OF GOVERNMENT SCORED

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 27.—More than 300 delegates to the annual convention of the Pennsylvania League of Third Class Cities today heard an attack on centralization of government, made by H. A. Thompson, chairman of the League of Townships in Pennsylvania.

The Deleware court spokesman asserted that propaganda against "ox-cart government" was "only a smoke screen for centralization and the evils of bureaucracy, and strikes at the very foundation of the American system of government."

Kiwanians Frolic At Marvin Camp

Crowd Of 92 Turns Out As Members, Families Hold Cornroast

EVENING GIVEN TO BONFIRE PROGRAM

Kiwanians of New Castle and their families look anxiously forward each year to their big cornroast outing celebration at the secluded Marvin-Andrews camp along the Neshannock creek—and last night, folks, was the night!

Ninety-two persons, members, their wives and sons and daughters and relatives and guests, enjoyed the 6 o'clock feast and informal evening program that continued without much interruption through the evening.

While Jupiter Pluv frowned down from the skies all evening, he didn't shake his rain sprinkler until about 9 o'clock and then for just a short spell.

For a few minutes the guests gathered on the porches of the cottages and had a good time singing, and then everyone returned to the bonfire circle after the drizzle halted.

The man who handles the bulk of the work on the night the club host visits the camp, H. Lee Marvin, a member of Kiwanis, was as busy as ever last night—and he succeeded, like in the past, in making his guests mighty comfortable. He was chef for the dinner and his chief assistants were Mr. and Mrs. William C. Falls, owners of one of the cottages there.

Long Strife Seen Ahead For Spain

English Authority On Spain Declares War In Spain To Last Three Years

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The Spanish civil war will continue for at least three more years—in the opinion of Professor E. Allison Peers of Liverpool University, England, an authority on Spanish affairs.

Here in New York for an address under the sponsorship of the American Committee for Spanish Relief, Prof. Peers declared that there was no sign of victory for either the loyalist or the rebels at present time.

It would be a tragedy for either side to have a complete and crushing victory according to Prof. Peers—for a victory for one side would only lead to another civil war later.

Mediation Efforts Necessary

Solution to the present situation, he said, is to have the nations that worked for non-intervention now work for mediation, despite the almost insurmountable obstacles.

"Such hope for mediation," he explained, "under international auspices might be possible if either or both sides were exhausted or the presence of foreign troops could be made a starting point for the suspension of hostilities; that is, to permit the evacuation."

"There is no sign of exhaustion yet," Prof. Peers said.

TWA WEATHER PROPHETS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—The idiosyncracies of weather present no problems to Transcontinental and Western Airlines' own weather bureau. Its meteorologists averaged 98.9 per cent right for weather predictions over the entire system, coast to coast, for the month of June. Certain meteorological offices were right with every single prediction.

Stenos Need Press Agent Says Expert

Ability Of Stenographers Is Exhausted After Thirty Years Have Elapsed

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Stenographers over 30 years old, organize and hire a press agent if you want to find or keep jobs! That's the advice of Miss Gwynne Ross, New York vocational guidance expert.

"Women over thirty don't go well with modernistic furnishings in most offices", warns Miss Ross.

"Stenographers don't get alimony when their bosses retire" Miss Ross recently told an occupational meeting at the American Women's Association here. "And unless the individual contrives to beat the system she doesn't get another job after she has passed thirty. Every stenographer should chip in a dollar a year to get a public relations counsel to keep her unfortunate condition before the public."

Miss Ross by no means shares the respect stenographers have for their bosses. "It's fantastic the devotion some girls have for their bosses," she laments. She accuses employers of "using up the only productive years of a stenographer's life at a salary too small to put anything aside against the non-productive years after thirty or forty."

Frowning on working for one man a long time, Miss Ross advises stenographers to keep no position more than four years no matter how high the pay, and urges that they enter some other business before they reach the age of 27 or 28.

Clerical work isn't the only thing a woman can do, she declares. Alternatives? She suggests minding babies, selling insurance, renting offices or driving "traveling libraries."

Boy's Internal Organs Found On Wrong Side

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—Johnny Mountain is a swell kid all right but it seems his heart just isn't in the right place. And as far as that goes, neither is his liver, appendix nor other intestinal organs.

Johnny's complaint of stomach aches induced surgeons at St. John's hospital to take X-rays. And were they surprised when the picture of his inner structure looked like a normal negative in reverse?

The X-ray revealed that Johnny's pains were caused by a disrupted appendix—located just opposite from where it ought to be. The appendix was removed but surgeons are still trying to explain the complete reversal of his intestinal makeup.

Johnny is a nine-year-old lad, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mountain of Heidelberg, near here. He has a swell disposition, the nurses at the hospital said.

Glass In Key Role In Nazi 4-Year Plan

Glass Manufacture Rapidly Advancing As Leading Industry In Germany

(International News Service)

BERLIN—Glass is fast and victoriously advancing into the field of metals and other raw materials and is therefore called upon to play a prominent part in the German four-year-plan. In a general propaganda drive for the increased use of glass it has been repeatedly pointed out that 99 per cent of the glass manufactured in Germany is of domestic origin and may be produced in unrestricted quantities.

"Glass for everything!" is the new slogan. Glass can be produced in any shape, in any degree of hardness, for luxury, everyday use, and for technical purposes, even where metals with high technical qualities are required.

Glass Uses Innumerable

After first launching a glass buttons craze for ladies' garments, manufacturers soon found out that there is practically no limit to the use of glass, especially since the purchase of such metals as copper, zinc and lead caused considerable difficulties owing to the foreign exchange restrictions imposed upon German trade.

Pipelines for beer, for instance, which used to be made of lead, will from now on be made of glass. There is no reason why water pipelines for the general drinking water supply should not be made of glass in the future. Thin walls are being made of coarse glass with several layers of wire netting inside, especially for the construction of bungalows, bathing cabins, etc.

"Glassed" Fruits Next

"Canned" fruit or vegetables will soon be known as "glassed" fruit or vegetables, and laundry equipment, which used to be fitted with corrugated sheet iron, has been successfully fitted with glass instead. Glass wool is used for isolating and tightening purposes and has also successfully replaced ebonite in electric batteries.

The German glass industry, comprising 1,252 factories and workshops, now employs 75,000 workers against 57,000 in 1933, but it is pointed out that in spite of this increase, these factories are being operated with only 72 per cent of their full capacity.

SMASHES HUSBAND'S CAR

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J.—Wham! Bang! Crash!

Crowds and police came running, only to find Mrs. Louise La Marra swinging a hammer, smashing windows, headlights and denting fenders of an automobile.

"It's my husband's car, but I helped to pay for it and he won't let me ride in it."

Immunize Against Diphtheria Urges Health Secretary

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—"Every child past the age of six months should be immunized against diphtheria," declared Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, as she discussed the Department of Health's current campaign to better child health conditions in Pennsylvania.

"Why do we select six months of age? Because practically every child inherits natural immunity, or that is, protection against diphtheria from its mother. About the sixth month of life this protection begins to disappear from the child's blood and the infant becomes more and more susceptible to diphtheria," continued the secretary of health.

Many mothers ask, "Why should I have my child inoculated when he or she is perfectly healthy?" Anyone who remembers the ravages of diphtheria in the latter part of the nineteenth century could give these mothers any number of reasons for protecting the child against this disease. Reviewing the figures for diphtheria in this state, we find that in the year 1906, when the Department of Health was organized, there were 10,870 children stricken with diphtheria and 2438 died.

The number of cases reported annually climbed continually until 1921 when there were 20,794 cases with 1983 deaths. From these figures we see that one child in every four who contracted diphtheria died in 1906, while in 1921 only one child in every 10 died. This was due to the more wide-spread use of diphtheria antitoxin which saved many lives but did not reduce the number of cases; for from 1906 to 1921, the yearly number of cases had doubled.

About this time, i. e. 1921, toxin-antitoxin began to be used in sufficient quantity in the State of Pennsylvania to make more and more children immune to the disease, and thereby changed the number of cases developing each year. From the 20,794 cases of diphtheria in 1921, the yearly number of cases has fallen off each year until 1936 when he had only 1744 cases—from better than 20,000 cases to not quite 2000 cases per year in a 15 year period.

Certainly this remarkable reduction in the number of cases per year was not due to any remarkable change in our way of raising children in the 15 year period. We are positive that this reduction was due in great part to the use of toxin-antitoxin and toxoid which reduced the number of children susceptible to diphtheria.

If this immunization protected at least 18,000 children from taking the disease last year, and at the usual death rate saved over 1600 children from the grave, certainly you want your child protected also.

Alum toxoid, the immunizing agent now generally used, requires only one injection and there is no danger attached to its use. It requires about two to four months after this treatment for sufficient antitoxin to appear in the blood to give protection against diphtheria. Therefore, you cannot wait for a diphtheria outbreak in your community before having your child treated. That would be much too late to save him in the emergency.

It is your duty as a parent to see your family physician and have your child immunized immediately. Diphtheria rates are highest during the winter months—inoculation now will protect your child this winter and in most cases for the rest of his childhood.

(Next week's article will discuss "Proper Diet for a Very Young Child".)

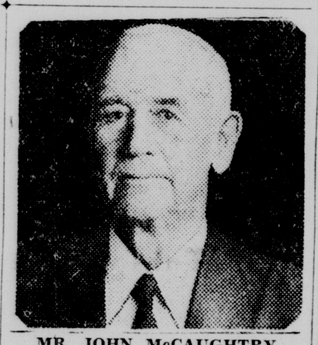
LOCAL MAN'S BACK ACHED SO COULD HARDLY DO HIS WORK

Tells How Vendol Acted As Diuretic To His Kidneys, Relieved His Constitpation And Now He Enjoys Grand Relief.



MR. JOHN McCAUGHTRY

"My chief reason for starting on the Vendol treatment was because of the terrible pains that settled in my back and limbs," stated Mr. John McCaughtry of 335 E. Washington St., a carpenter who formerly worked for the Penna. Railroad, to the Vendol Man in the New Castle Drug Co. recently.

"While I suffered terribly from these pains, I really believe that constipation was my worst trouble because I was never free of it and was causing untold misery in different ways.

"My rest and sleep was broken several times every night and this was telling on me. I often felt dizzy spots floated before my eyes, I had headaches and always had indigestion and gas in my stomach after meals.

"I got very little relief from anything I took so hearing how Vendol was doing so much good around here, I got some, along with the little Vendol laxative tablets, and that was the best thing I ever did. It gave astonishing relief from the constipation and acted nicely as a diuretic to my kidneys and now all the backache is gone, my sleep is sound and refreshing, I never suffer from indigestion, gas or acid risings and I haven't had a dizzy feeling lately. Vendol is a wonderful medicine and I'm sure will help everyone the same as it did me."

Vendol is made from roots, herbs and valuable alkalines which have a wonderful effect upon the kidneys, stomach, and bowels, and relieves many troubles when due to constipation or need of a mild diuretic.

What Vendol did for this home town person it will also do for you, so don't delay getting some. Come to New Castle Drug Co., 35 E. Washington St. and let the Vendol Man tell you all about this medicine. The New Castle Drug at 24 N. Mill St., Schweizer's Pharmacy in Ellwood City, and all other leading druggists sell and recommend Vendol.

August 30th is the last day for an elector to change his party affiliation for the primary election, according to Registration Clerk Thomas Edmunds. This must be done by personal application at the registration bureau.

September 4th is the last day for an elector who moves within the same election district to notify the registration bureau of such change in address.

E. C. McCracken, one of the janitors at the court house has been confined to his home for several days with illness. He is reported better today.

With the new voting precincts that have been added there are now an even one hundred precincts in the county. Of this number 42 are in the city, 15 are in boroughs and 43 are in county districts. New voting places have been secured for the additional precincts in this city, and some changes have been made in the country districts. Election officers for the new precincts have not yet been in, but there are a number of applications for places filed in the prothonotary's office, and the appointments will be made shortly by the court.

Registrations for the borough of Ellwood City, made during the two additional days which were allowed by the county commissioners, following the presentation of a petition have now been completed but the total registrants added has not yet been announced at the registration bureau. This will be done within the next few days.

An application for divorce has been filed at the prothonotary's office by Gladys McKay of Neshannock township against Archie G. Mc Kay of Windsor, Ontario. The couple was married in August 1933 and the application is made on the grounds of desertion.

Architect H. M. Wirsing, who is preparing plans for two additional rooms in the corridor of the court house, will have them ready within a short time. One of the rooms will be occupied as a private office by the county commissioners, and the other will be used by the county treasurer.

Only three more days remain for citizens to pay their county taxes without throwing themselves liable for the five per cent penalty which will be added on September 1st. Those who mail in checks to the county treasurer should include a stamp for the return of the receipt.

A copy of the will of the late Weller D. Smith who died in Youngstown, O., has been filed at the register and recorder's office. Mr. Smith left his widow Laura B. Smith, a farm consisting of 33 acres in Pulaski township, near Bedford, for life. At her death it is to go to two nephews, Herbert Smith and David Smith, who are to receive share and share alike.

Under the will of the late Joseph S. Young, of this city, which has been probated, all of decedent's property is left to his daughter, Mary Cresta Donaldson.

Deficiency Bill Is Signed By Roosevelt

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—President Roosevelt on Thursday signed the third and final deficiency appropriations bill, totalling approximately $100,000,000.

The measure carried an authorization for creation of a $65,000,000 fund for loans to cotton producers to stabilize the price at 12 cents. Also included was a $20,000,000 appropriation to inaugurate the administration's $85,000,000 farm tenancy and sub-marginal land retirement program.

People are divided into two classes, good and bad. The division is always made by the good ones.

MILKER IS SHOCKED AND COW IS KILLED

(International News Service)

HAMILTON, O., Aug. 27.—When a cow is electrocuted while being milked, it's enough to give the milker a shock, too.

W. Gentry, farmer, of Rosedale, near here, was milking his favorite heifer recently when she touched her nose against a wire fence across which a high tension line had fallen during a thunder storm. Gentry escaped electrocution, but the cow died almost instantly, he told officers.

Shanghai Death Toll Is 15,000

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Death toll of the Shanghai conflict was estimated at 13,000 to 15,000 in dispatches from the Chinese war front.

The London News Chronicle said 8,000 Chinese soldiers and civilians have been killed and 11,000 wounded. Five thousand Japanese troops were reported killed when land mines were exploded under a Japanese landing party.

Denies Trying To Sell Negro Woman To Satisfy Debt

(International News Service)

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Aug. 27.—G-Men Thursday were investigating charges that a Tallahatchie county planter had taken a negro woman sharecropper in chains before other planters and tried to sell her to satisfy a $175 debt.

The planter, J. S. Decker, was released on $1,500 bond while the federal agents checked the story of the woman, Ethel Davis.

Sheriff H. H. Dogan told the government men that he found her chained to a bed in a cabin on Decker's plantation, following which the Davis woman related the efforts of Decker to sell her.

Another negro sharecropper, J. W. Wiggins, said that Decker had threatened to chain him to a tractor but relented when the negro promised to stay on the plantation.

Both owe Decker money, totaling $175. They were reported being held by the government today as material witnesses. Decker denied the charges.

Greek Tanker Is Bombed From Air, No Damage Done

(International News Service)

ANTHENS, Aug. 27—The captain of the Greek tanker Romford sailing under the British flag, reported Thursday to harbor authorities at Pireaus that a plane of unknown nationality bombed his ship 20 miles miles off Barcelona, Spain.

The captain stated five bombs fell within 30 yards of the tanker which was not damaged.

Organize Swedish Fraternal Societies

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—Swedish-Americans have inaugurated their drive to organize Swedish fraternal, social and religious societies in preparation for the nation-wide celebration next year to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Swedes in America.

Featured at the 1938 celebration to be held in Wilmington, Del., and Philadelphia, will be President Roosevelt, the Crown Prince and Prime Minister of Sweden, and J. Sigfrid Edstrom, new Sweden commissioner, it was reported.

The part the Swedes played in drafting the United States constitution will be stressed.

Paperhangers And Painters On Strike

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Launching their drive for shorter hours and higher wages, 15,000 painters and paperhangers began their threatened strike, Thursday while leaders planned three parades and wholesale picketings.

In addition, 100,000 men in 19 unions in the Building Trades Council of Greater New York have agreed to stop work on any building in which the painters strike, according to Louis Weinstock, secretary-treasurer of district council 9 of the International Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers.

FRUIT THINNING DEMONSTRATION

A meeting of interest to fruit growers in Lawrence county will be held Tuesday afternoon, August 31 at 1 o'clock, in the orchard of William Edminston near New Wilmington.

This is a meeting to observe the results of a thinning demonstration. Early in the summer apples were thinned in this orchard to definite distances, and some were left unthinned.

It will be possible to observe the advantages of thinnng and to see the apples from these trees graded for market.

TO CLIP OR NOT IS A TIMELY QUESTION

Many farmers mow stubble fields after harvest to keep down weeds and to get rid of the stubble in the next year's hay crop. There are differences of opinion whether it is wise to do this. With evidence on both sides, the following are the main factors to consider.

If left to stand, the stubble and other growth provide a worth while protection and often prevent winter injury. This covering holds the snow, and in case of an ice sheet it furnishes sufficient ventilation to prevent smothering and killing of clover and alfalfa.

Clover and more particularly alfalfa and sweet clover need to make all possible root growth the year sown. When the top is cut off just as it begins to grow well, the plant receives a severe set-back which may result in little later growth if the summer is dry. This often means much winter damage and a weak start the following spring.

Clipping improves the appearance of the field and may check a rank growth of ragweeds and smartweeds. Where the stubble is left quite long, as in combine harvestng, it may be desirable to eliminate it from next year's hay, especially if the hay is to be marketed.

In genera, clipping often does serious harm and seldom much good, except in improving the fall appearance of the field and of the next year's hay. If clipping is to be done, it should be as soon as possible after harvest to permit ample later growth of the legume, or else very late in the fall after maximum growth has been made.

On the other hand, in a wet summer when clover makes a rank growth in the stubbe and comes into full bloom it may be better to cut and remove a hay crop, especially if hay is badly needed. Too much growth left over winter may tend to smother clover and makes a favorable harbor for mice.

Clover which goes to seed profusely the first year may die. Alfalfa will not die as the result of seed formation, but if it makes a rank growth and booms before September 1 it will not be hurt cutting. The cutting should be early enough to permit a good regrowth before cold weather.

Moderate pasture of rank growth of first-year clover, sweet clover, and alfafa may be safer and more satisfactory than clipping but one must watch for and carefully guard against losses from bloat. Heavy, late, and close pasturing of stubble fields always must be avoided.

NEW CALF STALL FLOOR HAS MANY GOOD POINTS

Heavy galvanized netting as a floor for calf stalls has proved very desirable at a near-by experiment station as an aid in keeping young calves clean, comfortable, and growing.

The netting used was made from No. 11 wire woven to a ⅜ inch mesh. Frames to support the wire were made from 4 by 4-inch material and were four feet wide and five feet long. No. 9 wires one foot apart were stretched across the frame each way to give suport to the netting which was strongly stapled on all sides. The frames were set on legs six inches high and a two by four inche piece was fastened on top along each side to keep bedding in place. In use the frames are placed end to end along a wall or stanchion to which the calves are tied. The size of the frames is such that they can easily be moved for cleaning beneath.

Long straw or swamp grass was used as bedding three to four inches deep. Liquids run through the bedding and are carried away by a drain. Thus the bedding having little chance to absorb moisture remains warm and dry. The droppings are removed with little loss of bedding and it is necessary to change bedding to change bedding oftener than once a week.

Young calves are delicate and many of the troubles encountered in raising them are due directly or indirectly to unsanitary conditions. Cold, damp beds often cause colds, pneumonia and scours. Wire floors with their dry comfortable beds prevent much of this trouble.

In the experiment calves on wire floors spent twice as much time lying down as calves on cement floors in adjoining stalls. There were distinct savings in labor and bedding on the wire floors and the calves had better health, and made greater gains.

FARMER ADOPTS STRIP FARMING TO SAVE SOIL

Last fall N. L. Benfer near Beavertown in Snyder county considered what to do with a wide hillside on his farm which normally would be corn this year. When in corn last, this field was seriously washed and gullied and much top soil was lost.

He talked the matter over with his county agent who called in the extension agronomist.

After going over the situation, Benfer was shown that there was a simple and practical way out of the difficulty. Instead of plowing the entire field this spring, it might be broken in strips as nearly on the level as possible. The most effective width of these would be about 100 feet. Every other one would be plowed for corn, the unplowed ones to remain in sod for two more seasons. Several pictures showing similar lay-outs on other farms helped Benfer to see how his field would look.

Although the idea did not sound too good at first the more he thought about it the more convinced he became that it was vastly better than to permit the washing which nad taken place in the past. With no further assistance, Benfer this spring laid out the strips as suggested in a satisfactory manner and is well pleased with the results. The field is now in six strips alternating corn and sod. When water starts running off the corn land it does not go far nor do much damage before coming to a strip of sod which spreads it and takes out most of the silt it carries.

Many Pennsylvania farmers are coming to realize that something should be done about their soil losses. Some, years ago, adopted a system of strip farming and are so pleased with the results that they would not consider going back to the old way of plowing up long slopes all at once. County agents are receiving many requests for help and suggestions on the location and layout of strips and on other erosion problems.

Profiting by the experiences of others, more and more farmers are adopting simple and practical ways of using their soil and saving it, too.

ENLIST FAMILY HELP IN ROADSIDE MARKET

Economic pressure forces the average homemaker to consider what can be done to add to the family income. Gardens and berry patches offer an opportunity. The improved highways and use of automobiles have developed roadside marketing, says Miss Mary Vogle, county home economics worker.

Family cooperation is essential in accomplishing anything for home betterment.. Calling a family council to talk over plans for individual and cooperative tasks is the first step. Who will be responsible for the roadside stand, who will gather and prepare the things to be sold are two problems to consider.

Buyers are classified as tourists and residents of the nearby towns and cities. To attract the residents is more important since they are nearby and a satisfied customer returns.

The artistic member of the family may make simple but attractive signs to be put up 500 feet distant in both directions so motorists have time to slow down and stop before they get past. Adequate and easily accessible parking facilities, clean and attractive appearance, with an attractive display of fresh fruits and vegetables and quality canned goods, are important factors for repeated sales.

PICKLES AND RELISHES ADD VARIETY TO MEALS

Both fruits and vegetables are used to make pickles and relishes. While they have little food value yet they are a means of giving variety to a meal and of stimulating the appetite.

A good pickle, says Miss Vogle should be crisp, have a good color and an agreeable taste, and the liquid should be clear and free from scum. If preserved whole, the pickle should not have a hollow center.

Many people experience difficulties in making good pickles. Soft or slippery pickles, one of the most common forms of spoilage, are the result of the brine being too weak to prevent the action of bacteria. Be sure to have all pickles entirely covered by brine, warns Miss Vogle or soft and slippery pickles will result.

Too long a time should not intervene between gathering and brining pickles, since this is apt to cause a hollow pickle. The period should not exceed 24 hours. "Floaters" are cucumbers which have not developed properly and are hollow.

Shrivelled pickles are caused by using too much salt or sugar or by using vinegar which is too strong. Try using a weak solution and then transferring them to a more concentrated solution.

A leaflet on Pickles has recently been published by the Pennsylvania State college and may be obtained free at the Agricultural Extension office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle, Pa.

CULL UNPROFITABLE EWES FROM FLOCK

This is the time of year when most farmers begin thinking about their next year's lamb crop. To produce a good lamb crop in 1938 it is necessary to do an intelligent job of culling the ewe flock when the lambs are weaned. The cull ewes can be turned in with the lambs and finished for market.

The mouths, udders and general conformation of the ewes, as well as their lambing record, should be taken into consideration. Most farmers grade their flocks to get as much uniformity, as possible.

When lamb prices are high the temptation to sell the good ewe lambs and keep old ewes is very strong. This is poor flock management. Many of the old ewes either fail to live through the winter or are not strong enough to raise good thrifty lambs. A carefully selected flock of ewes mated to the right kind of a ram makes a profitable lamb crop.

Nobils Primed For Radiators

Important City Softball League Game Tonight At Radiator Field

GAME WILL START AT 5:30 O'CLOCK

Whether or not the City Softball league ends this evening depends on the outcome of the Nobils-Rads battle carded for this evening at 5:30 o'clock at National Radiator field.

Important Game.

The contest is of the utmost importance. A victory for the Nobils will give them a deadlock for first place in the second half race. The Rads lead by a lone game. A triumph for the Rads means "curtains down". Manager Ambrosia will call his star moundsman, Greg Ross, who has won 32 and lost 4. Irv Rubeis is Ambrosia's second choice.

Manager Italo Amody, still smiling following the Nobils' victory over the Rads several evening ago, will likely use Norman Cannonball Bishara. Bishara has tasted defeat a couple of times at the hands of the Rads. Jackie Jones and Chuck Summers, who were missing from the Nob lineup the other night, will play. The Rads have won 47, lost 2 and tied one. Peachy Fornataro will catch for the Rads while Tex Richards will be the Nobs' backstop.

No doubt another large crowd will be on hand to see if the Nobils can repeat their 5-4 triumph of Wednesday night. Here's what the opposing managers have to say about this evening's tussle:

Ross To Pitch.

Manager Ambrosia of Rads: "I will use Greg Ross tonight and we will win the trophy and pennant and bring the Rads their fourth championship in five years. If we win, Rads will close the season at Johnstown on Sunday. Fifty-two games are enough for any team."

Manager Amody of Nobils: "I will send in Bishara despite the fact that they have beaten him three times this season. If we win tonight we still have one game with Saks while the Rads have a tie battle with the Strollers. I'm satisfied so far, winning 31 and losing 9."

Red Sox To Play South Side Board

Tonight at 6 o'clock at Washington field, New Castle Red Sox will play the South Side Board of Trade team. D. Updegraf will probably twirl for the Soxers while Bobolin will chuck for the Slabtowners.

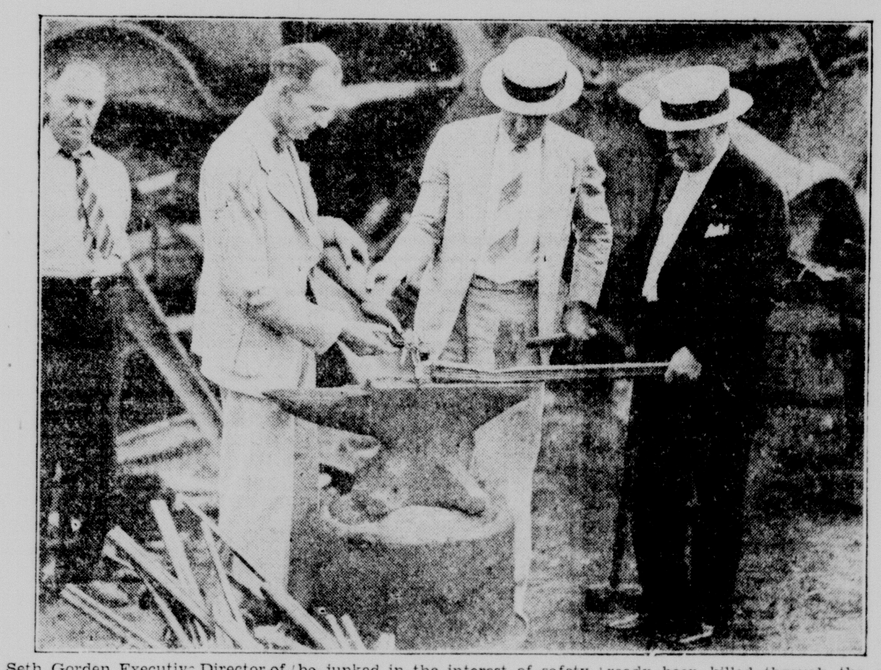
Destroy Illegal Firearms



Seth Gorden, Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Game Comission, center, W. C. Shaffer, Director of the Bureau of Protection, left, and Judd Turner, of Ellwood City, Assistant Director of the Commission, right, destroying unsafe firearms, confiscated during the past year from careless and illegal hunters.

Under a new state game law, guns, which are in poor condition, are to be junked in the interest of safety.

In commenting on the new provision, Director Gorden said, It is one of the greatest safety-first regulations ever placed on the statute books of the Commonwealth." At the same time he cautioned all hunters to put their guns in shape and to relegate to the scrap heap, or to the collector's cabinet, any weapon too old or too unsafe for use this fall.

A number of hunters have already been killed through the use of defective firearms, and every effort will be made to discourage the use of such obsolete implements.

Gorden also called attention to the three-shot limit for firearms to hunt small game this fall and urged all hunters to insert plugs in the magazines of their repeating weapons immediately, both for the sake of safety and to avoid unintentional violations.

Farr And Louis Bout On Monday Will Draw Mob

Mike Jacobs Thinks $70,000 More Will Find Way Into Till From Postponement

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Yesterday's pennies from heaven were transformed into box office dollars today as Joe Louis and Tommy Farr trudged back to their respective training camps and Promoter Mike Jacobs busied himself anew with the ever enjoyable task of peddling tickets for the title bout, now set for Monday.

Jacobs, in a burst of optimism, predicted that an additional $75,000 would find its way into the till as a result of the postponement.

"I'm sure of close to $240,000 right now," said he, "including the $60,000 for radio and picture rights. The race crowd will be back from Saratoga by Sunday, and so will thousands of fight fans on vacations. Don't forget that Monday is the last day of August and officially ends vacations."

Everyone Pleased

Yesterday's rain, in fact, pleased everybody except the out-of-town customers who will be clipped for hotel bills during part or all of the interim. Farr was especially pleased by the delay.

"I have four pounds of superfluous weight about my body which I didn't time just right," he explained. "I will lose those four pounds by Monday. And besides that, this slight cut on my cheek will be healed as tight as a drum."

The postponement was not so pleasing to Louis, who appeared to be on razor edge at the weighing-in ceremonies yesterday. Maintaining that fighting edge will be no sinecure.

Bessemer Will Play Two Games

Bessemer and Struthers will play a double-bill Sunday at the Bessemer field, the first game starting at 1 o'clock. The second game will start at 3:30 o'clock. It is a Slovak League game, and will detemine the championship of the second half of the league.

Bessemer won the first-half of the league season. In event of good weather the games Sunday will draw a big crowd to the Bessemer field.

Ryantown-Mahoning To Play Tonight

Weather permitting the Ryantown and Mahoning A. A. teams will meet tonight at the E. & A. Field in a postponed City League game. The game will start at 5:45 o'clock.

The pitchers will probably be—Rodenbaugh and Russo.

CASTLE HILLS COURSE

Jimmy Pagley caused one of the biggest upsets of the year at the Castle Hills championship flight playoff game by defeating one of the tourney favorites, Willie Grommes. Pagley had a par round of 72 with an eagle on No. 18. Grommes turned in a 73 card and had an eagle on No. 8.

In another championship flight match, Walt Vogan defeated Ernie Smith, the former having a 78 and Smith an 80.

In a second flight match Kelly Montgomery defeated George Sargent, 4 and 3. Joseph Dudek defeated "Tapper" Jackson, 2 and 1. All of the championship matches should be played as soon as possible.

SAW UNUSUAL GOLF SHOT

William M. "Bill" Nunn while playing golf at Akron, O., with his nephew, Aubrey Moorefield, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and with the pro at the Fairlawn Country club course, saw a most unusual hole-in-one shot made by young Moorefield.

He used a number four iron on a 167 yard par three hole and the ball caromed off a tree and rolled onto the green, and found its way into the hole. There have been a lot of queer hole-in-ones, but this one takes the cake. It was a very beautiful billiard shot off the tree.

West Pittsburg Trips K. Pulaski

Score Is 7 To 3 In City League Game At Glasser Field, J. Winters Stars

West Pittsburgh with J. Winters "up" took the league leading K. Pulaski team over the coals last night at Glasser field 7 to 3. J. Winters was in rare form as he let the Oaklanders down with but four hits.

Walter "Sheenie" Soho was on the hill for the Pulaski team and was found for nine hits. He fanned four men. Winters whiffed five of the K Pulaski team.

Football Season Tickets On Sale

Football is in the air again. The New Castle high gridders are hard at work at Taggart Stadium and it will not be long until the flood lights at the popular New Castle high football plant are turned on.

Reserved seat tickets for the nine home games are now on sale at the Sporting Goods Store, and are going for $4.00 per ducet. Only two games will be played away from home this year, Massillon and Beaver Falls.

Indians Upset Macks 10 To 5

White Sox Trip Senators, Yanks Win From St. Louis Browns

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Even Joe Louis, most rabid of all Detroit baseball fans, is about ready to admit the Yankees have too much power for the rest of the American League.

Joe turned clam on fight talk during the weighing-in ceremonies yesterday but he has plenty to say about baseball.

"If Mickey Cochrane don't get hisself hurt, we suah woulda had that old pennant sewed up by now," Joe volunteered, while a steaming roomfull of officials, fighters, managers, newspaper men and mere hangers-on huddled around in a 10 by 12 chamber.

"Sez you," countered trainer Jack Blackburn, an ardent south side Chicago fan, "whut about them White Sox. They's the only ones can beat them Yanks."

What About Sox?

"Huh," snorted Joe in disguest. "Why must you always bring up them American Association players? That's all them White Sox is—American Associationers. Say, if we only had that DiMaggio we'd be in right now even as we is. Maybe we wouldn't go to town with Gehringer, and Greenberg and DiMaggio."

Somebody suggested the Tigers could strengthen themselves by swapping Greenberg for Gehrig but Joe wouldn't hear of it. "Nossuh," he protested solemnly that Greenberg, he's the best they is on fust base."

It may be that Joe is right about DiMaggio's value. Certainly he was just what the doctor ordered yesterday when his 37th homer tied the score against the Browns.

That unsettled Jack Knott and Bill Dickey immediately added his 26th round-tripper. Those two wallops were all the Yanks needed to give Lefty Gomez his 16th victory but just to make everything safe, they belted in three more runs in the ninth for a 5-1 decision.

Lawson Wins

Roxie Lawson, Tiger righthander, also turned in his 16th victory at the expense of the Red Sox, 6-5. Roxie won his own game when he laid down a perfect bunt with the sacks fully tenanted in the ninth. The Tigers got their other five runs in the fifth in which Hank Greenberg walloped his 28th homer.

The Indians pounded Smith and Turbeville for 14 hits to grind out a 10-5 verdict over the Athletics and the White Sox—who looked much better than Joe Louis' estimate of them, won out from the Senators in the ninth, 4 to 3. Mike Kreevich and Tony Piet each singled, doubled and homered for six of the nine White Sox hits and Piet's double in the ninth was the pay-off.

Few Postponed

Rain washed out the Reds and Dodgers, Pirates and Giants and Cubs and Bees and the second game of a doubleheader between the Phils and Cards.

In the lone National League game, the Phils took over the Cards, 8 to 5, each side using four pitchers. Dizzy Dean started for the Cards but quit with a sore arm after Norris, first Philly to bat, hit a double. Maybe old Diz figued that if Norris could get a hit off him it was time to quit.

All Stars Trim Nomad Team, 12-7

In a free hitting contest played at Gaston Park, Thursday, Midget League All Stars won from the Nomads, 12-7.

George Lamorella was on the mound for the Stars and held the Nomads to 8 hits. Heobel and Guido were found for 14 bingles. Cozza, Augostine, Waslin, Cowden and George were the heavy hitters. For games with All Stars call 4651 and ask for Fi.

Colonel Drew, Mae Arion And Cordy Bancroft Win

Colonel Drew was the class in the first two heats and Petercan was tops in the third heat of the 2:12 to 2:15 pace, handicap start, at the Fair track yesterday afternoon. The black gelding reined by Miller paced the first mile in 2:09, the fastest time yet made during the race meet here. However, the truck record of 2:06¾, made by Kate Hal in 1923, remains unbroken. Cordy Bancroft took three straight heats in the 2:22 trot and Mae Arion won two heats of the 2:26 pace with Guy Win taking the other.

In the first race of the day, the 2:26 pace for a purse of $300, Mae Arion won the first heat by a length. She was driven by Walter Johnson. Albert M. was second and Ripley was third in 2:13½. Ripley had plenty of trouble getting away. Albert M. forced Guy Win to step her nicest in the second heat, the first half being paced in 1:06½. Albert M. led at the half but could not hold this position. In the third heat Mae Arion led Albert M. by a length and Guy Win was two lengths behind the winner. The time fas 2:13½, 2:16, 2:15.

Take 2:22 Trot

Cordy Bancroft was the class of the second race, a 2:22 trot. He took all three heats. In the first mile Miss Volo McElwyn came in second and Adam Poe, a local horse, was placed third because Silent Victor ran. Silent Victor finished second in the second heat after forcing Cordy Bancroft to trot her nicest and Miss Volo McElwyn was third. They finished in the same order in the third heat, excepting that Adam Poe came up on the outside in the last heat, beat out Sidney Volo and won third place. The time was 2:11½, 2:12 and 2:14.

In the third race, a 2:12 to 2:16 pace handicap Miller was supposed to be back 80 feet in the first heat but wasn't and at the half Colonel Drew led at the half. Calumet Bell Boy was second and Petercan third. However, in the dash for the wire only Petercan forced Colonel Drew in the fast time of 2:09. On the next even Starter Harry Goll took Arnold from Calumet Bell Boy's surrey for not turning and Shields took up the reins.

At the quarter Calumet Bell Boy was on top and led at the half but in the last half Colonel Drew came up on the outside and literally ran the legs off the field with Petercan finishing second. The time was 2:11. In the third heat Petercan with Cummins driving won in 2:11¼.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

With the Joe Louis-Tommy Farr 15 round bout shunted from last night to Monday night of next week at New York talk of Max Schmeling meeting the winner has been revived. Promoter Mike Jacobs has expressed himself as being willing to promote such a match but Joe Jacobs, no relation to Mike, in behalf of Schmeling declares that the price offered so far for der Max's services is by far too small. If arrangements can be made Max will meet Joe in Madison Square garden in October.

George N. Tresyman of New York and Don MacMurray of Chicago, went into a tie with Charles Jaffe of New York, for first place in the American Chess federation title meet yesterday at Chicago, by winning fourth round matches which were adjourned Wednesday night. Tresyman beat E. Woody of St. Louis for his fourth straight victory and MacMurray gained his fourth win by beating Al Morton of Providence, R. I.

Ned Lilly, 21, Stanton, Mich., won the North American doubles championship by deadlocking Phil Miller, French Lick, Ind., with 98 of 100 and then winning the shoot-off, 19 to 20. Miller broke 18 of 20 in the shoot-off.

Schmeling Wants To Meet Winner

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Max Schmeling went on record Thursday before the boxing commission as being ready to fight the winner of the Joe Louis-Tommy Farr bout "any time, any place."

Cardinals Trip Mahoning 2 To 1

"Bob" Faller Has Better Of Raney In Pitching Battle At Lee Avenue

The Sixth Ward Cardinals with "Bob" Faller on the hill took the measure of the Mahoning A. A. team last night at the Lee avenue ball orchard 2 to 1. Faller was aided splendidly by Rob Coulter of the Cards who had a pair of hits.

The Cards had one big inning, the fifth, when they tallied their two winning runs. Raney hurled a four-hitter and lost it. He fanned six men but issued four walks.

Fischer-Goodman Are Survivors In Amateur Tourney

By DARSIE L. DARSIE
International News Service Sports Writer

ALDERWOOD, COUNTRY CLUB PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 27.—Johnny Fischer, of Cincinnati, the defending titleholder, today faced Ray Billows, of Poughkeepsie, and Johnny Goodman, of Omaha, met unknown Marvin Ward, of Tocoma, in the semi-finals of the National Amateur Golf championship which has seen favorites upset by unknowns, old timers come back with unexpected brilliance and galleries so large all western records have been broken.

Few would hazard a guess as to what would happen today—and there is a reason.

Unknowns Win

Who guessed yesterday that C. Ross "Sandy" Somerville, the former titleholder who seemed to have reached top form and was putting with unprecedented brilliance would go down to defeat before unknown Winfield Day of Los Angeles.

Who could have guessed that Fred Haas of New Orleans the national intercollegiate champion and most consistently brilliant player in the championship, would have been beaten at the 21st hole by equally unknown Marvin Ward.

Who could have guessed that 47-year-old Chick Evans, of Chicago, would defeat confident young Frankie Strafaci, of Brooklyn, and then come within an ace of overthrowing the defending titleholder, Fischer.

The reason for any lack of predictions can be seen. The unexpected has happened and is happening in this most colorful and interesting of championships.

There are two kinds of literates: those who gush over Dickens, and those who thinks he wrote a lot of long-winded tripe.

Lawrence Indies Upset Ryantown

Score Is 2 To 0, Majocha Outpitches Badurik At Cedar Street Field

The Lawrence Indies pulled a big upset last night at the Cedar street Field 2 to 0 as Majocha outpitched "Spud" Badurik allowing but two hits to the Ryantown team.

The Cedar Streetians scored in the first and fourth innings to win the game. Ryantown could not get a man around the sacks. Mosley was the feature hitter of the game, getting a slashing homer in the fourth chapter. This was the only extra-base hit of the battle.

Market Develops Irregular Recovery After Break On Thursday

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The stock market today developed an irregular recovery after yesterday's break.

Federal intervention to prevent the threatened railroad strike was greeted with relief in Wall Street but fell flat as an influence on rail shares, C. & O. and Southern Pacific hit new lows and several other rails were down. Atchison and N. Y. Central bucked the trend with fractional gains.

Steels were moderately higher at the start, but slipped some later. Youngstown, up a point, scored the largest gain. Slight gains were shown by Chrysler and General Motors in light dealings. Leading oils like Standard of New Jersey, Texas and Socony lost ground.

Most of the utilities were better. North American rising nearly a point. Coppers gained up to a point in Phelps Dodge but American Smelting was a laggard. Rubbers and amusements were mixed.

U. S. Gypsum was a weak spot, faling over 3 points, but other building shares were steadier.

Dictator Near Death

Admiral Horthy

Fears are expressed for the life of Admiral Nicholas de Horthy, 69-year-old regent and dictator of Hungary, who was reported in a grave condition in Budapest following an attack of influenza aggravated by heart trouble. Horthy was commander of the Austro-Hungarian fleet in the World war and made regent in 1920.

Five Family Outing Held At Ewing Park

Rice, Weisz, Moyer, Boyer And Zeigler Families Have 39th Reunion

ELLWOOD CITY Aug. 27—When one family has a reunion its usually a fine success and when five families combine for one it should be just five times as successful and the 39th annual gathering of the Rice, Weisz, Moyer, Boyer and Zeigler families held on Thursday, at Ewing Park, was no exception.

The 150 that attended the reunion came from many towns in Ohio and Pennsylvania. At noon and the evening meal hours the long tables were ladened with delectable picnic edibles that disappeared with pleasing alacrity.

LaVerne Rice, of LeRoy, O., presided during the business period with the following officers elected: president, Clem Boyer, Ellwood; vice president, Wilbert Boyer, Butler, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Charles Hauserman, Frisco; and sports, Max Boyer, Poland, O.

Throughout the day instrumental music was contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Heckler, of New Kensington; and readings, Ms. George Hazen and Mrs. Syling. An interesting talk was given by A. B. Weisz, of Tarentum.

An attention holding sports program was directed by Max Boyer with amusing diversions for all age groups with nice prizes going to all the winners. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Emma Welsz, of Ellwood, oldest person; Robet Lee Conner, Ellwood, youngest; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stiefel, Beaver Falls, youngest married couple; Mr. and Mrs. Bentel, Ellwood, the oldest married couple and to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Finchel, Beaver Falls, largest family attending.

In 1938, the reunion will be held at Ewing Park, on the fourth Thursday, of August.

Bridge Luncheon Concludes Season

Season Awards Presented To Mrs. Ralph Evans And Mrs. A. E. Milbrath

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—A large number of members and guests assembled at the Ellwood City Country club on Thursday for the final party of the season and it was most enjoyable in every detail.

At 12:30 o'clock the group partook of a sumptuous buffet luncheon with pretty floral arrangements adding to the attractiveness of the setting.

Eight tables of bridge were in play throughout the afternoon with high score for members going to Mrs. Harry Harris and second high to Mrs. Carl Stiefel, Jr., and for guests to Mrs. Fred Jackson. The season's award for high score was presented to Mrs. Ralph Evans and second high to Mrs. A. E. Milbrath.

There were a number of guests from Pittsburgh and the Valley towns.

Mrs. William Clyde Pleasing Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—In a charming manner, Mrs. William Clyde received members of the Gleaners class of the Wurtemburg Methodist church at her home on the Ellwood-Portersville road Thursday evening for the August meeting. Mrs. Anna Carouthers, of Wurtemburg, was a special guest.

A devotional and business period was conducted by the president, Mrs. George Hazen, and plans were discussed for fall activities.

During a social hour the hostess aided by Mrs. Jennie Wimer and Mrs. Ernest McConahy, served the group a refreshing repast.

Mrs. N. V. Fowler invited the group to be her guests for the next meeting on Thursday, September 30, at her home at Wurtemburg.

Emma Kaufmann Camp Is Closed

Summer Camping Period For Underprivileged Is Brought To A Close

ZELIENOPLE, Pa., Aug. 27.—The Emma Kaufmann camp will close this evening, when the group of boys who have been there for two weeks leave for their homes in Pittsburgh. There have been 1040 in camp there this summer, each of the five groups being there 12 days. They arrive on Monday mornng and remain until the Friday evening following, a week.

The superintendent of the camp, Mrs. Sidney Teller, of Pittsburgh, says the season has been a particularly interestng one. The camp opened with mothers and small children present, on June 21. Following their vacation, girls came for a month, there being two groups wth 26 councellors in each group, then the past month there has been boys, also two groups of them.

The camp is along the Connoquenessing creek, near Harmony and is an ideal spot. Those who visit the camp are children who would not have a vacation otherwise, and all children are weighed when they arrive and depart, and each one shows a gain. There is a hospital with a nurse in charge, and Dr. A. I. Stewart, of Harmony is the camp physician. Many of the employes are from this district who are given work there each summer, some having been there for the 16 consecutive years. The grounds and shrubbery have been particularly nice this year Charles Kolb is caretaker and remains there all year.

Happy Hour Class Has Special Guests

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—Twenty-six members of the Happy Hour class of the Slippery Rock Presbyteian church assembled last evening at the home of Mrs. Jesse Harper, of the Ellwood-New Castle road, for the August meeting.

Mrs. Marie Anderson, of New Castle road, and Mrs. Thompson, of Warren, O., house guest of Mrs. Lawrence Rabberman, of New Castle road, were special guests.

All the members participated in the devotional service, "Secret Sisters" were disclosed and new ones chosen for the coming year.

A social hour followed with the hostess who had Mrs. Jesse Weingartner, Mrs. Jane Friday and Mrs. Floyd Worrell, as associate hostesses serving a tempting lunch.

The group were invited to meet at the home of Ms. Wilbur Barnett, of the Ellwood-New Castle road, for the next meeting on Thursday, September 23.

Grangers Enjoy Impromptu Program

Installation Of Juvenile Officers Postponed Until Later Date

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—Members of the Pleasant Hill Grange enjoyed an impromptu program last evening for their regular meeting directed by the lecturer, Mrs. Jane Friday. There was a good attendance of members.

The installation of juvenile officers was scheduled to take place last evening, but through a misunderstanding had to be postponed until a later date.

Included in the program were the following numbers:

Song, "Good Old Farm"—By Grangers.

Riddles—Mrs. Harry Boots.

Reading, "These"—Carl Walton.

Reading, "Miss Dorothy Entertains the Minister"—Miss Lillian Jones.

Song, "Hike Along"—Grangers.

Owing to the "travelling flag" program to be presented on the next regular meeting date, Thursday, September 9, at New Wilmington by North Beaver Grangers, the date of the meeting was changed until Tuesday, September 7.

Bethany Class Has Annual Tour

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27—Colorful and enjoyable in every detail was the annual "Round the World" trip held on Thursday evening, by members of the Bethany class of the First Christian church. The sixty participating assembled at the church at 7:30 o'clock and formed a motorcade to the various homes.

The home of Mrs. Thomas Rodgers of the Ellwood-New Castle road, was the first stop which represented Italy, from where they went to the home of Mrs. Charles Mallory, of Ellwood-New Castle road to visit Ireland.

France was the next stop at the home of Mrs. Harry Hall, Fountain avenue, and the group then proceeded to the Carl Schweinsberg home, Hazel avenue, for China, Mrs. Hildrith Welsh was hostess for Germany at Ewing Park and Mrs. John Shrock, Pittsburgh Circle, entertained for Alaska

Motoring to Frisco, they stopped at the home of Mrs. William Craven of Frisco, for England, and Mrs. H. B. Thornhill, for Mexico. Returning to the church, Mrs. Edeth Gordon received the group for America.

Each of the homes visited was cleverly decorated to portray the countries represented and each hostess served refreshments associated with the country they presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Davis and children of Beech Grove, Ind have concluded a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Powell, of Line avenue.

Mrs. Ralph White Wins Club Award

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 27.—Assembling at the home of Mrs. C. E. Anderson, of Todd avenue, members of the O. N. T. club were entertained in a pleasing manner last evening.

Bridge at two tables was the diversion with prizes going to Mrs. Ralph White, high and Mrs. L. G. Ifft, second and the travelling award to Mrs. Earl Duncan.

Tasty refreshments were served by the hostess after which the group departed for home to meet again on Thursday evening, September 9, at the home of Mrs. Earl Duncan, of Spring avenue.

Burns Fatal To Zelienople Man

Robert J. Stanley Dies In Butler Hospital Of Injuries Received Tuesday

ZELIENOPLE, Aug. 27.—Robert J. Stanley, aged 41, died in the Butler County Memorial hospital Wednesday morning from burns received Tuesday about 11 o'clock at the shop at his home on Mercer street, Harmony. Mr. Stanley was welding an oil tank and there was a small amount of oil on the sides and in the tank that had generated gas and caused the explosion when the welding machine was used. He was badly burned over his body, about one-third of the surface of his body being burned. He was taken to the hospital immediately and died at 7:30 Wednesday morning.

Mr. Stanley came here to Harmony from Pittsburgh 13 years ago and had been engaged in electric welding since then. His widow, Christina Clusen Stanley; one daughter Lillian, a student nurse in the Allegheny General hospital, Pittsburgh, and one son Edward L., at home survive. The funeral will be today, and the burial made at Blairsville, where he spent his boyhood days.

British Laborites Seek To Reconcile Party Differences

Executive Leaders Strive To Unify Various Groups Before October

(International News Service)

LONDON—Leaders of His Majesty's Opposition in Parliament today were striving desperately to reconcile the differences which have split the British Parliamentary Labor Party wide open and left the National Government with little to fear from the Opposition when Parliament re-assembles in October.

The "big three" of the Labor Party leadership, C. R. Attlee, official "Leader," Arthur Greenwood, deputy leader, and Herbert Morrison, moving spirit of the London Labor Party, were taking advantage of the Parliamentary summer recess to try to settle the differences among the rank and file and restore some semblance of unity.

At the moment, the Labor Party is split no less than four different ways on the questions of British rearmament alone.

The Attlee group is opposed to supporting the rearmament program until the government expresses full support of the League of Nations.

Trade Union Group Spared

The Trade Union group, headed by National Chairman Hugh Dalton, is opposed to the government's foreign policy but favors a strong Britain to meet the menace of Fascism and therefore is unwilling to oppose rearmament.

The third group, known as the "anti-Imperialists" and headed by Sir Stafford Cripps, was unwilling to support rearmament until a definite agreement has been reached as to the circumstances in which the arms may be used.

The fourth group, the Pacifist faction headed by George Lansbury, was against any arms for any part for any purpose.

With this cat-and-dog situation existing among the rank and file, the executive leadership faces a serious revolt at the annual party meeting in October unless the differences can be reconciled in the meantime. In the hope of avoiding such a revolt, the executive leadership was striving to get the various groups together on a unified policy.

Vegetables Can Grow Without Any Soil

Tests Made Seem To Substantiate Theory Of Scientists

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—The day is not distant when vegetables will be grown without soil.

Doubt it? Then consult Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, president of Pennsylvania College for Women.

He has a garden—a small metal tank, just seven by three feet and in it he has growing a bushel and a half of potatoes at a cost of a meager five cents.

The secret? A bottle containing a mixture of 16 chemical is placed at the bottom of the soil-less garden, a wire netting is fitted over the garden top and covered with excelsior straw. That is the potato patch complete.

The potato roots have pushed down through the straw into the chemical solution and their green tops have sprouted.

Alongside his potato patch, the doctor has another tank flouting green tomatoes already on the vine and also another with gladioluses.

With this revolutionary method of gardening an acre of land can be made to yield 3,000 bushels of potatoes instead of the usual 100 to 120 bushels. A cheap method, a method devoid of hours of back-breaking toil.

Correct this sentence: "I bathe every morning," said the man, "and still I fail in love and business because I smell."

Letting the cat out of the bag is an old tale, but letting twelve kittens out to announce an engagement is a new twist. That is the way Miss Jane Little broke the news of her betrothal to Stephen Williams Hoover at a Cleveland Country club luncheon this week. In front of each guest at the table was a real live kitten wrapped in cellophane. About its neck was a ribbon with paper scroll attached. The kittens behaved polite as polite, sensing that it was a snooty affair.

When Leo and Ralph Carr exhibited a 16-foot six-inch stalk of corn from their Mississippi bottomland farm, they said levee land is so fertile and corn grows so fast that farmers 'plant the corn, then run to get out of the way."

Frank X. Krause, 52-year-old Canfield farmer, who died in a Youngstown hospital Wednesday of injuries sustained when he was attacked by a bull on his farm the day before, was a brother-in-law of A. E. Waggoner, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania railroad fireman who was killed last week in a train crash at New Galilee.

Postal authorities have just disclosed a new "racket." A number of hatcheries, unable to dispose of chicks, crate them up and mail them to anybody or to any ficticious address they can imagine. When the chicks are unclaimed or undelivered the postman receiving them must sell them at auction, deduct the postage charges and return the balance to the senders. Thus, the shippers, unable to sell their own product, are making Uncle Sam their salesman. Chicks are pains in the necks to postal employes, anyway. Their "peep, peeps" distract the workers; jammed in crates, tossed about here and there, the hungry little fellows strike at their hearts, they say, and many complaints have been received by Postmaster General Farley.

Take it from "Marrying" George R. Hart, justice of the peace of a township near St. Louis, two can live as cheaply as one and he has placed a sign to that effect in front of his marriage market. His is a one-man Gretna Green and he offers more services than any other squire in the Middle West. He not only secures the license, ties the knot, but he provides the ring, if the bridegroom has forgotten it, and if they want to decorate their car he has for sale a full stock of cow bells, whistles, old shoes, new rice, ribbon and crepe paper. And . . . he gives advice to the lovelorn.

Greene Favored For Chairmanship

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., Aug. 27.—Republicans of northwestern Pennsylvania were on record Thursday as favoring the election of acting Chairman G. Edward Greene as permanent chairman of the state committee.

Greene was assured 10 votes of local committeemen when the party meets in Altoona on September 25 to select a successor to M. Harvey Taylor, who resigned. Thirty-two members of the Republican organization from 14 northwestern counties were present at the meeting which backed Greene.

The nomination of Greene was made by G. Scott Smith of McKean county and was seconded by W. B. Means of Jefferson county and John Pierce of Crawford county.
